Lew Wallace High School
Gary, Indiana
Volume 30

LAKE COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

The school stood quiet
and empty.

A gentle breeze
swirled
around the trees
and down the walks.

Shades
of a golden day
melted
into the twilight
of a dying summer.

But in the morning . . .

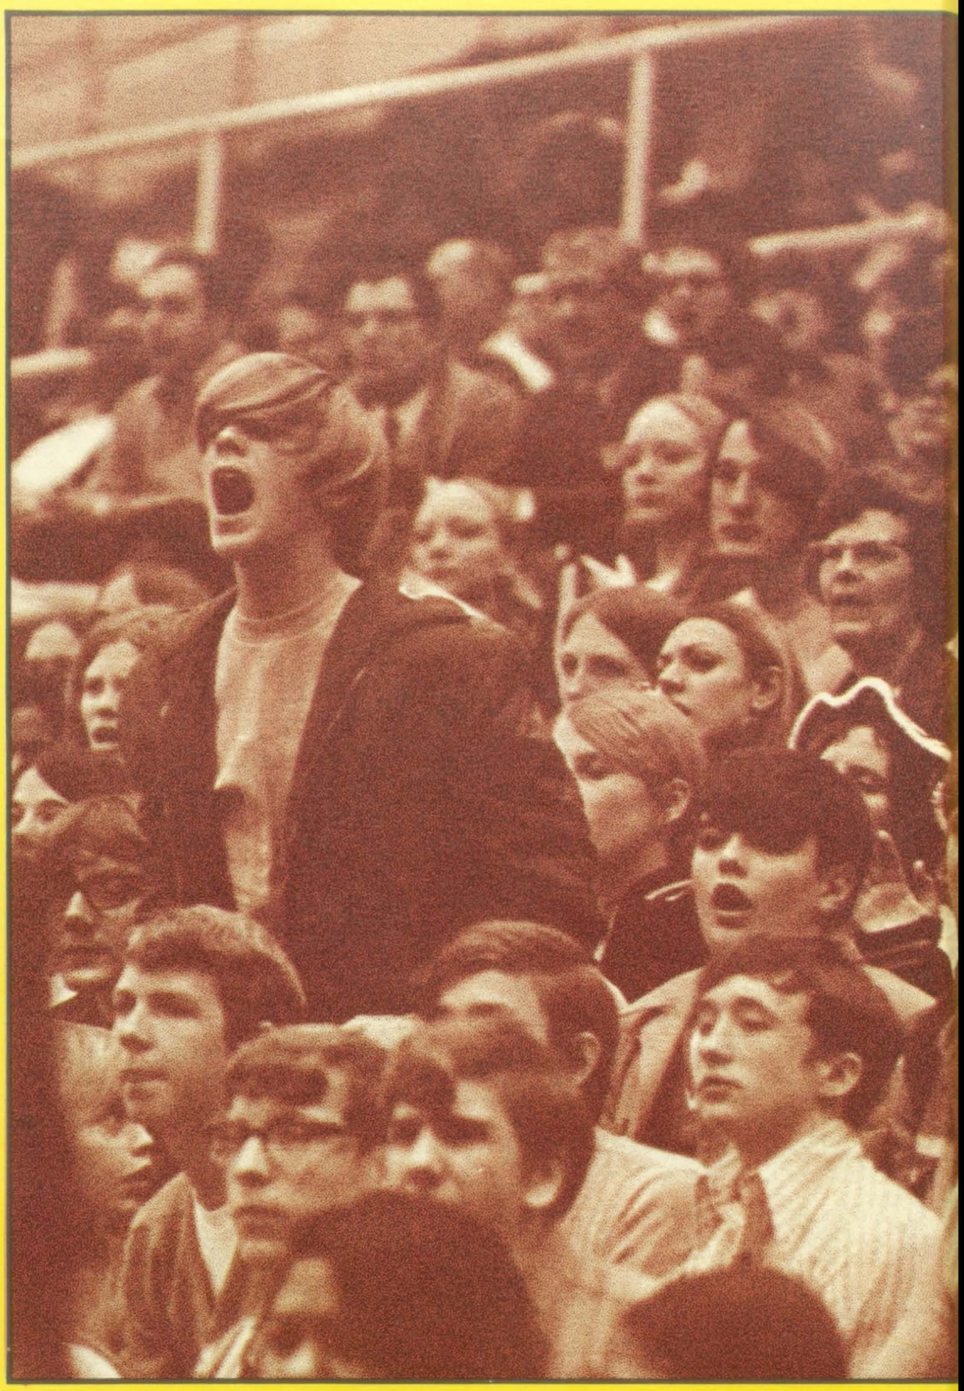

WE CAME . . .

We with our eager eyes
and polished faces.

We came alone
but one in a sea
of the faceless many,
and we found ourselves
as one.

We with our hopes and dreams . . .

we with our
fears and longings.

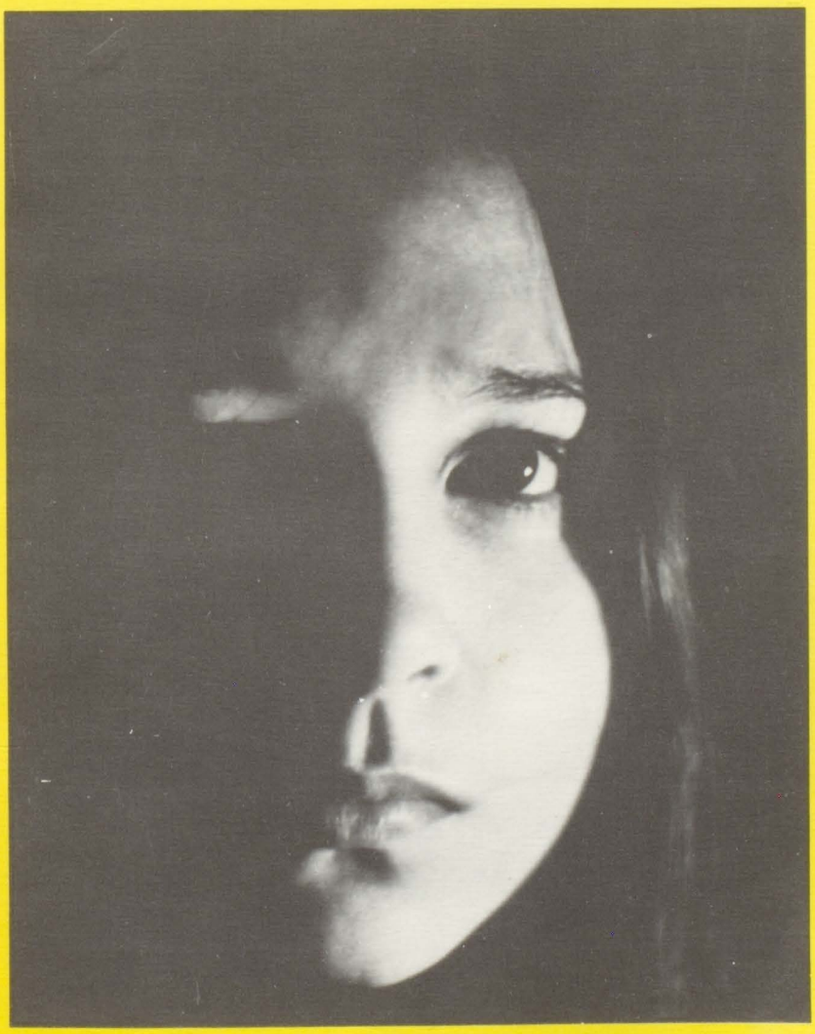

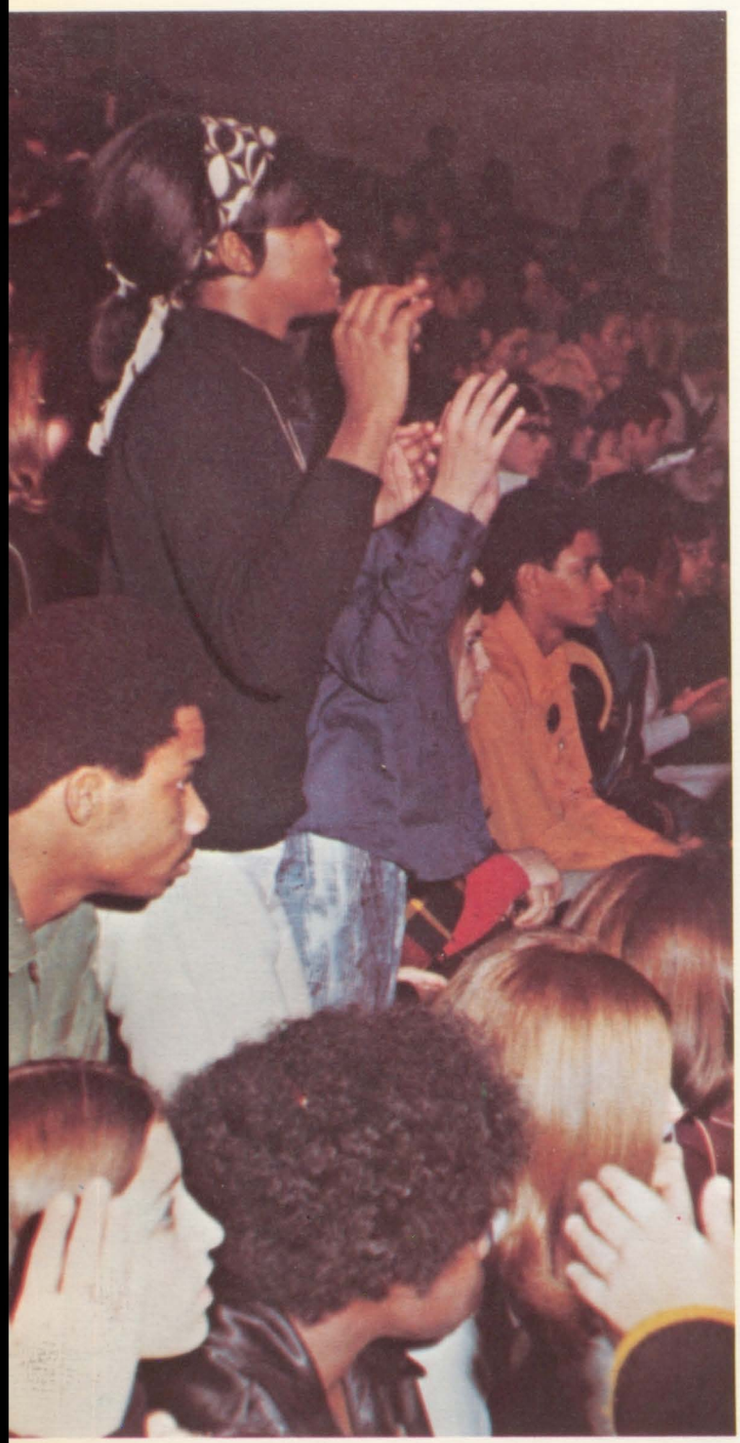

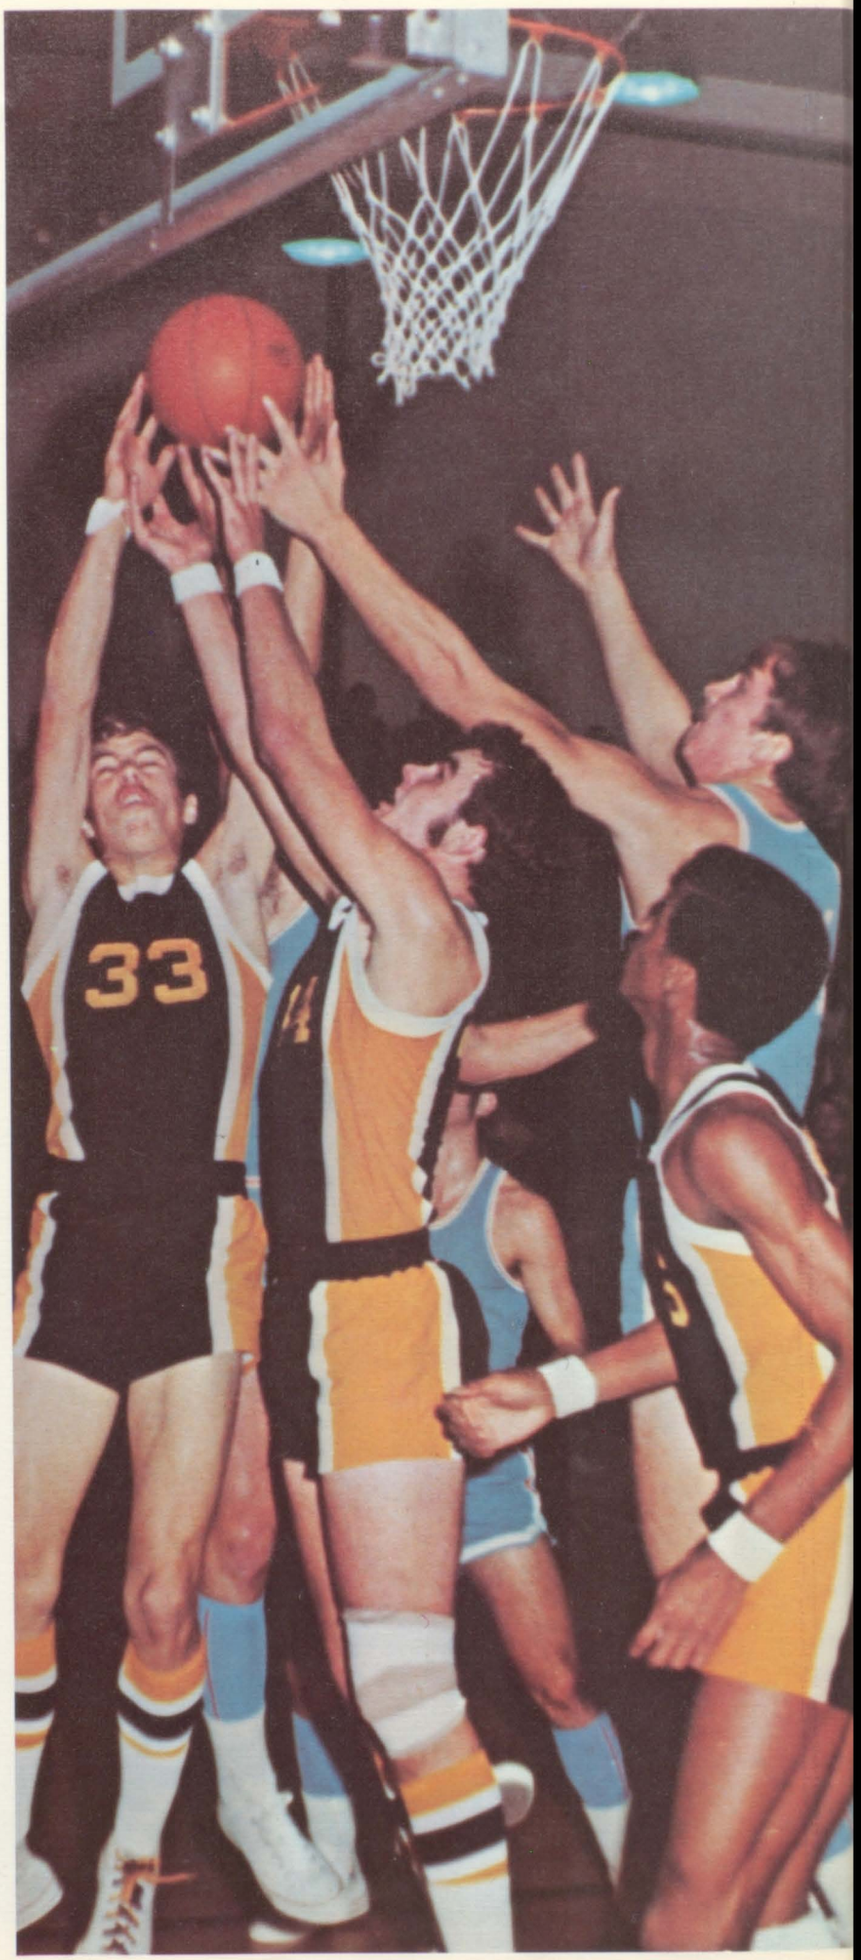

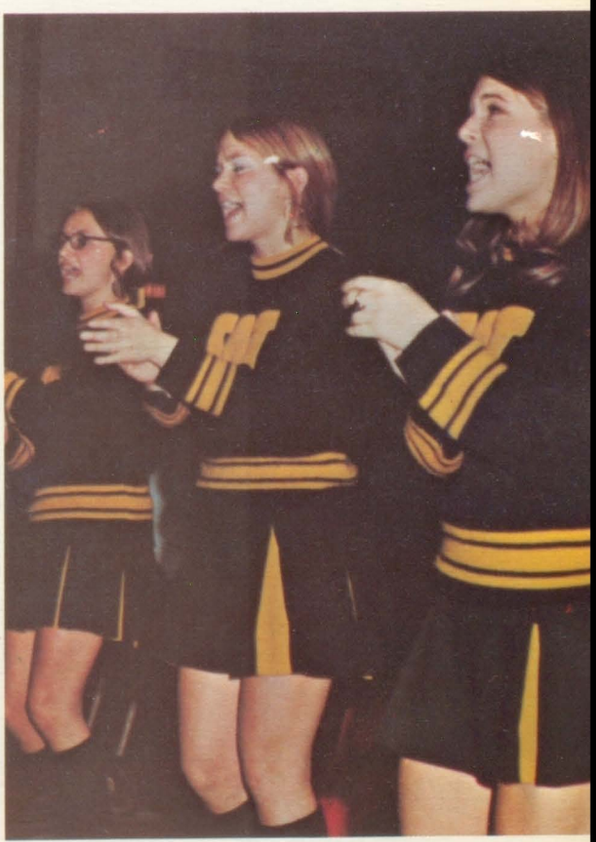

33

We lived
with hearts that ran,
and hands that dreamed,
and clocks
that had no hour hand.
And we were real
because we tried . . .

Remember?

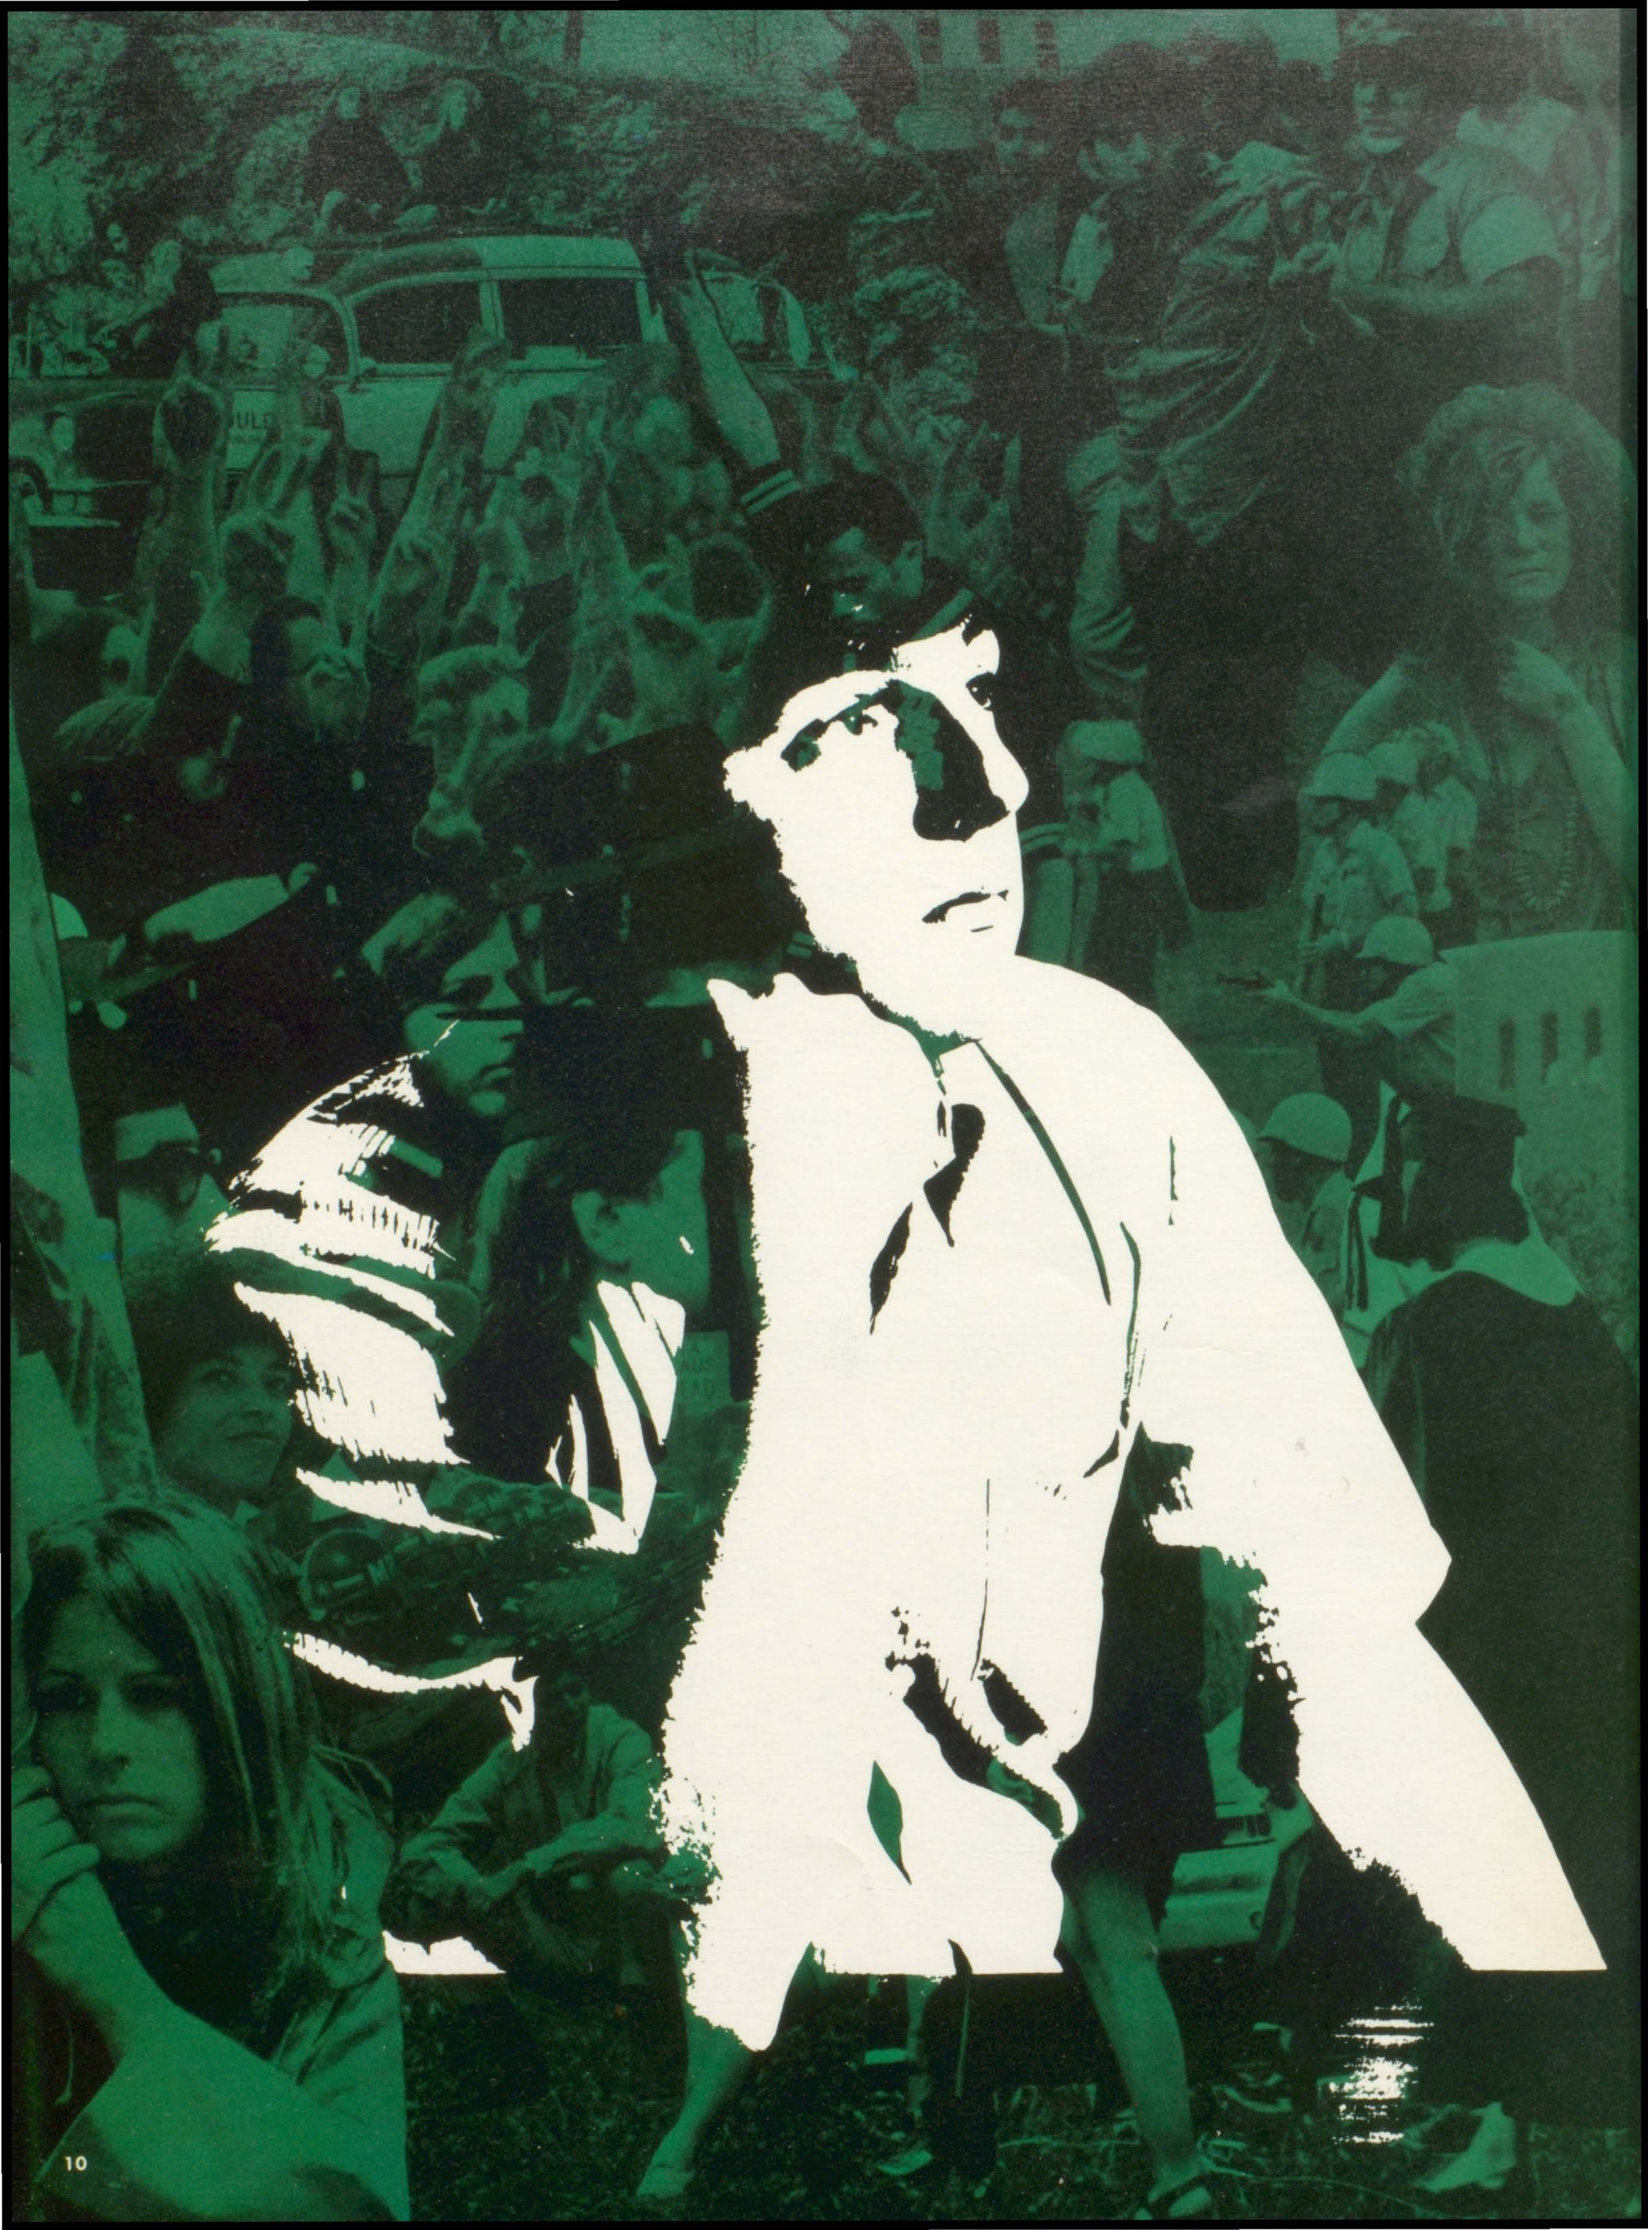

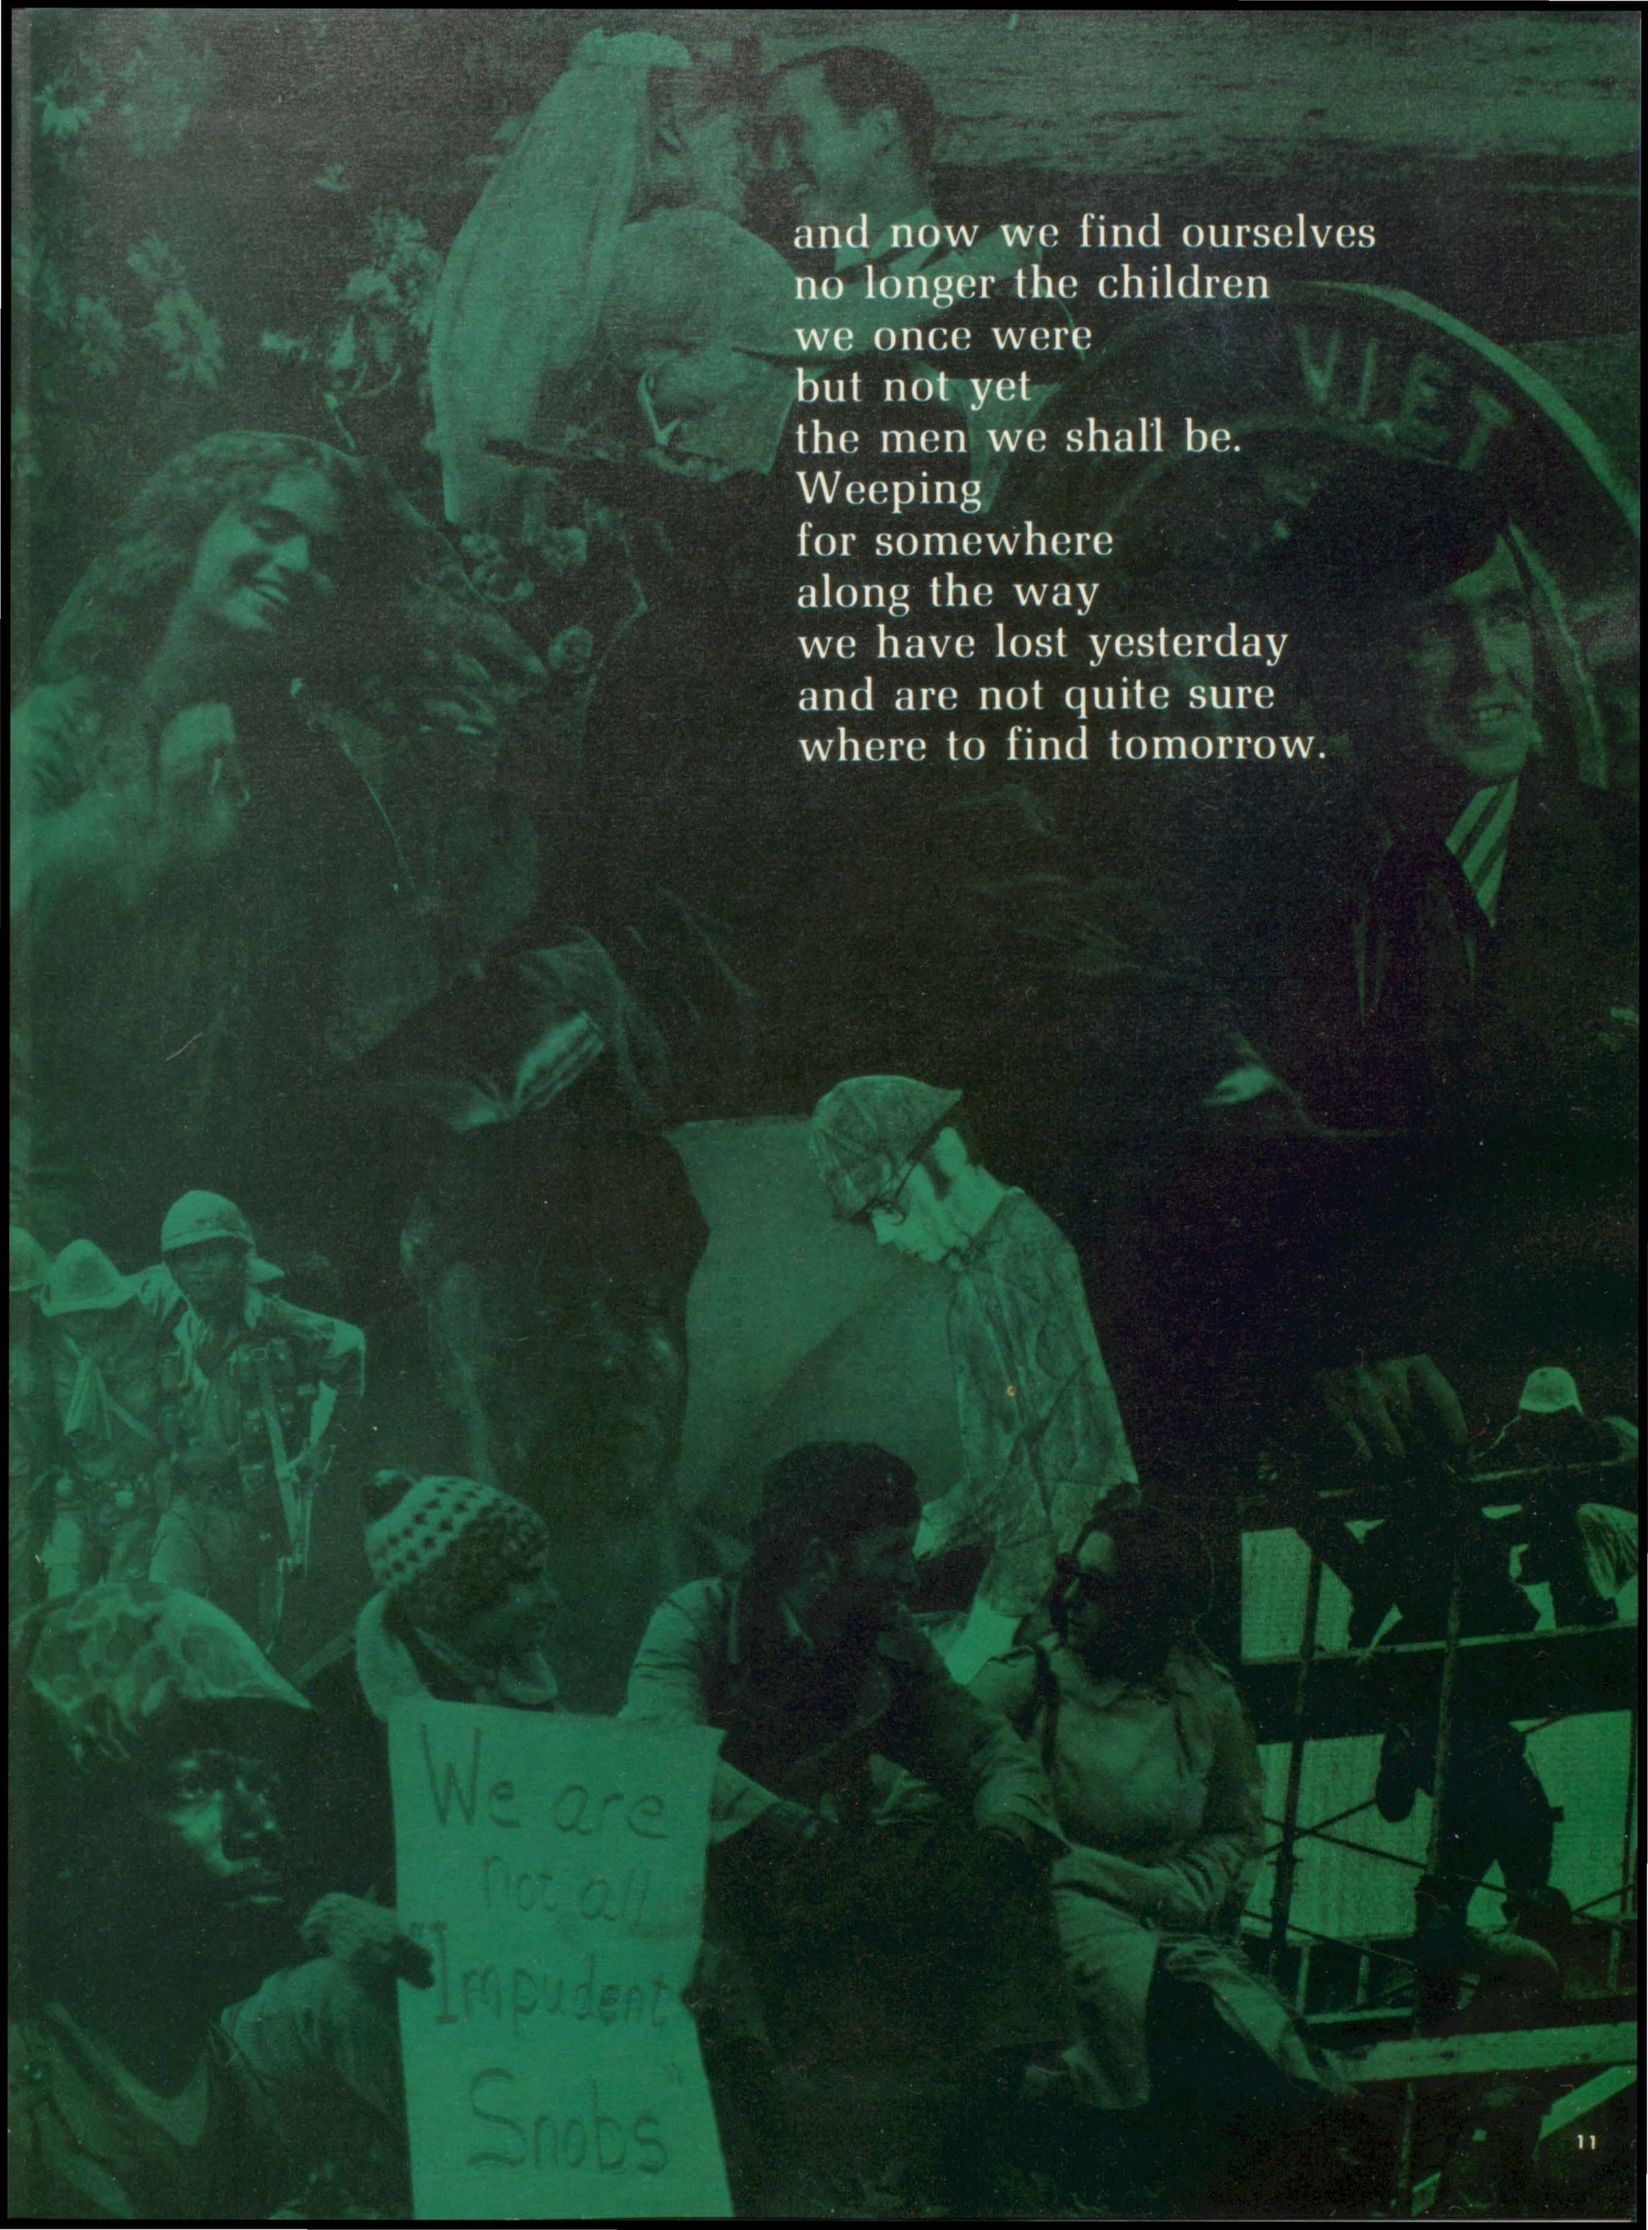

Once within a time
we tumbled down the autumn days
and falling,
changed a bit.

We,
the children gone by,
we have laughed,
dreamed,
smiled
loved
then somehow lost . . .

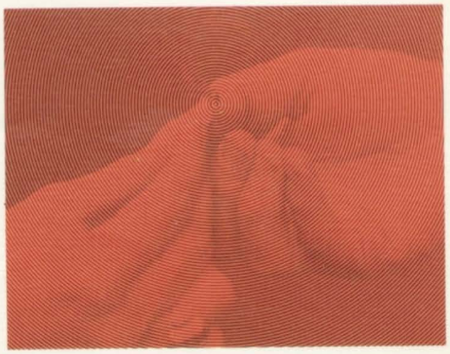

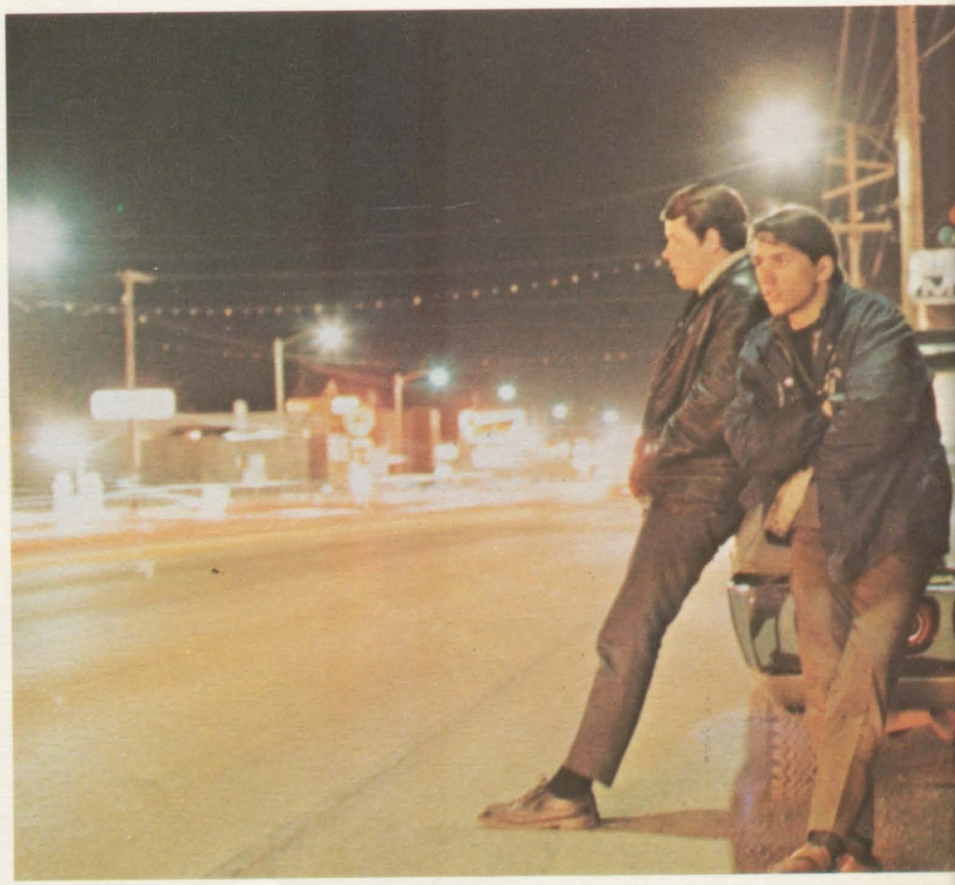

and now we find ourselves
no longer the children
we once were but not yet
the men we shall be.
Weeping
for somewhere
along the way
we have lost yesterday
and are not quite sure
where to find tomorrow.

Ours is a heritage and a legacy
of twisted machines,
tangled bodies,
and all-too-alone
city streets,
ours to do with as we will
as best we know how,
or as best we see fit.

WE INVITE YOU TO VISIT OUR
INJUCTION ROOM
TODAY

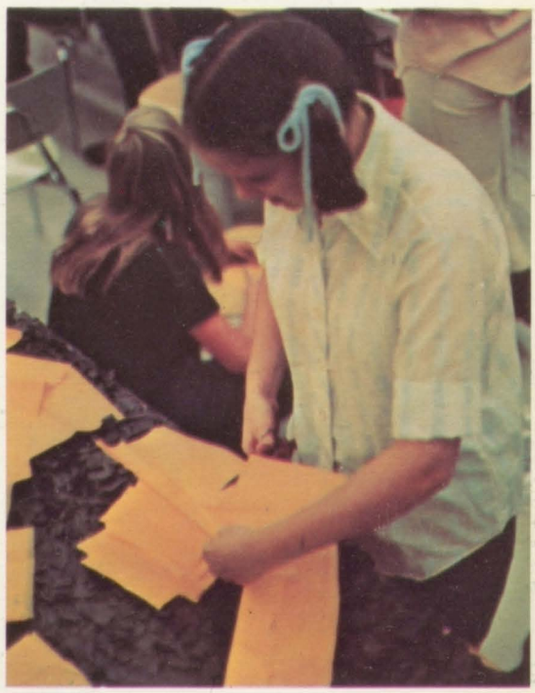

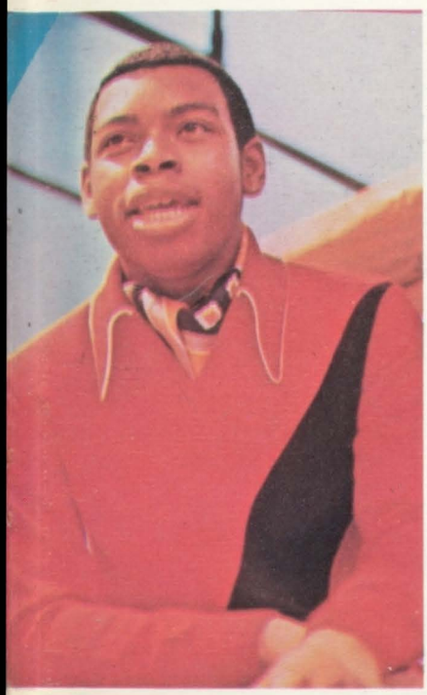

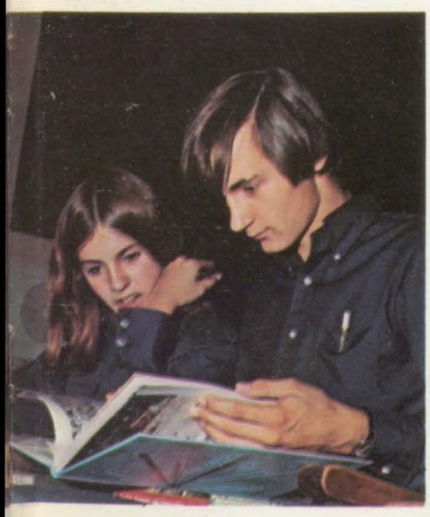

HORNETS

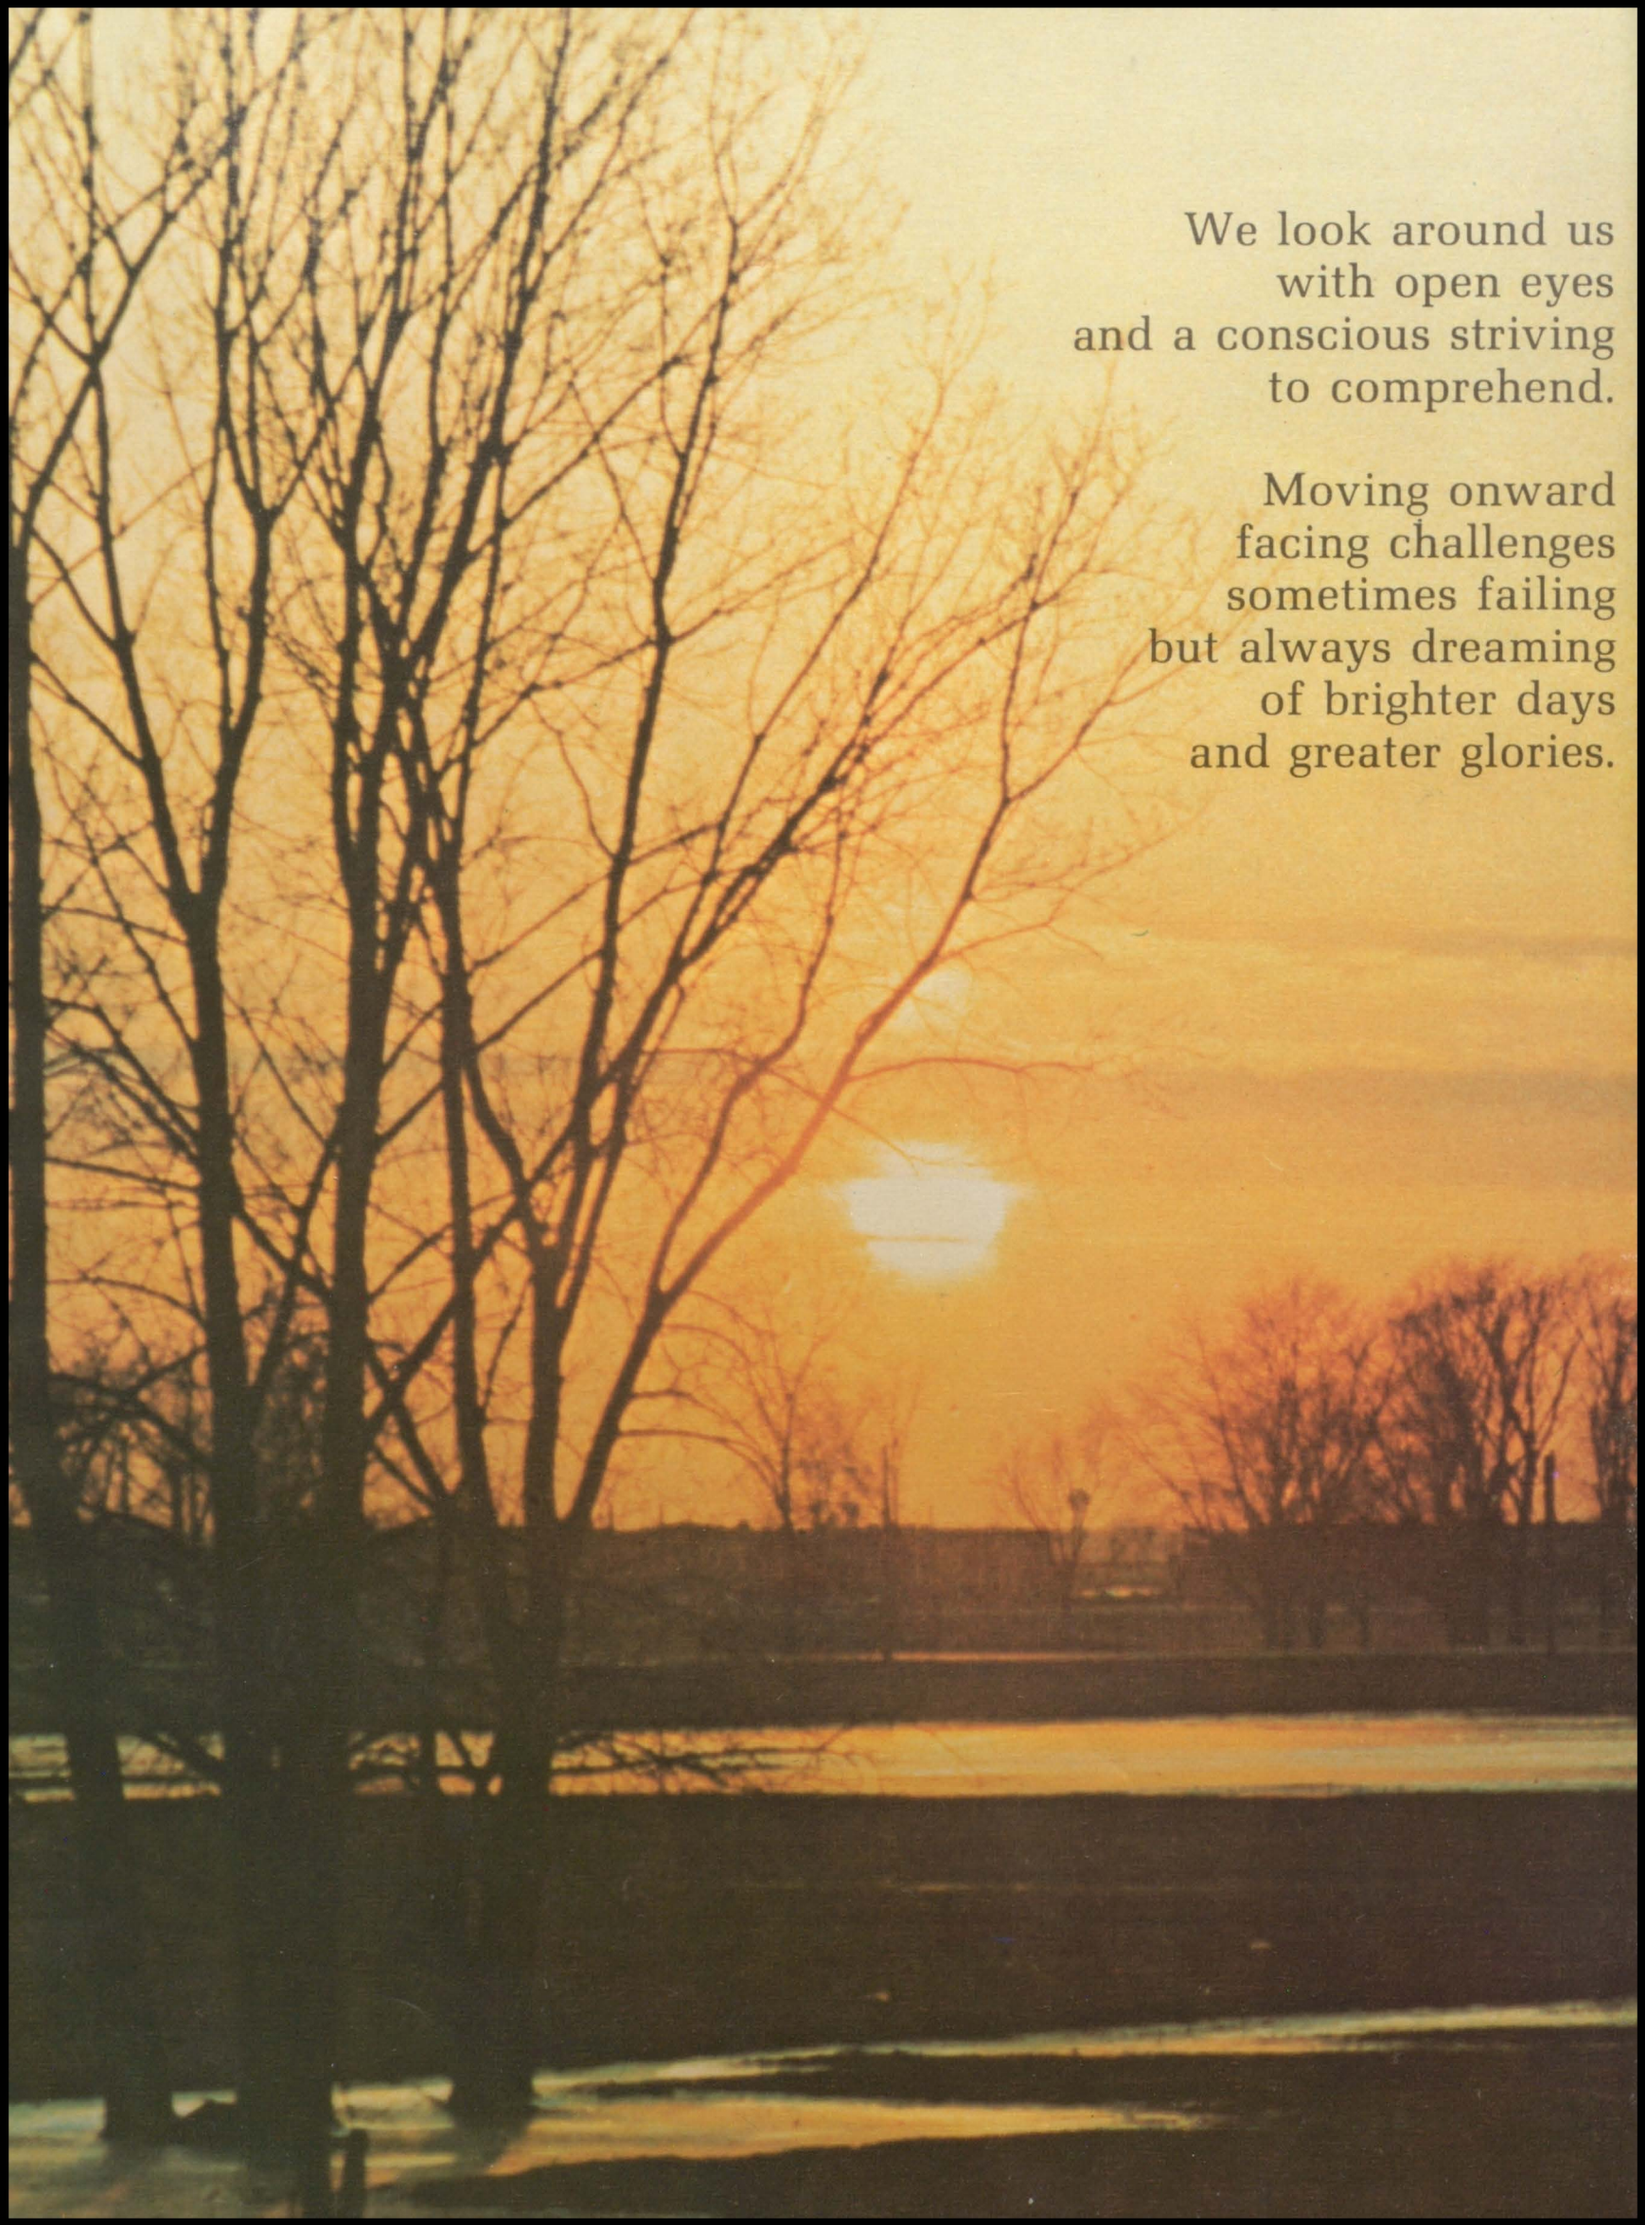

Thoughts that form
those unforgotten moments
of sometimes-sorrow,
failures mingling
hopes tossed
yet somehow forming
that intricate collage
we know as dreams.

We look around us
with open eyes
and a conscious striving to comprehend.

Moving onward
facing challenges
sometimes failing
but always dreaming
of brighter days
and greater glories.

The smoke-scented haze of fall greets two types of Wallace students: those who are eager to study hard to raise their grades, and those who couldn't care less about the whole thing. Students officially said goodbye to summer as Football-O-Rama kicked off the schedule of activities for the 1970-71 school year. Experiencing one of the last warm summer afternoons, the crowd watched as JoEllen Greco was crowned Football-O-Rama Queen. Newcomers to Lew Wallace were welcomed during Freshman Week with formal orientations, mother-daughter teas, fashion shows, and traditional hazing by seniors. Besides bringing new faces to Wallace, fall brought a new atmosphere. The loosening of dress restrictions and the "complications" of construction helped to create a freer feeling among the students. Wearing jeans and sweat shirts . . . reporting to the washroom for a class . . . just a little different. Not quite like "school."

marilyn reigns as spirit warms night chill

The black and gold mums were pinned in place, the float was finally completed, the stadium and goal posts were decorated, the teams were ready to play, and the cheerleaders were ready to cheer. The "Beat the 59ers" signs were up and the spirit and excitement filled the cool September night air . . . HOMECOMING!! The Hornets fought hard against arch-rival Andrean, but the game ended in a saddened Lew Wallace defeat. Our loss couldn't spoil the half-time activities, however, when Marilyn Hrnjak was crowned Homecoming Queen with Debbie Blash, Susan Hannah, Linda Hodges, and Patti Vance as her court. "Mildrina" Samardzija shared honors with Marilyn when she was crowned "Yugoslavian Homecoming Queen" with an elegant diamond-studded crown from Burger King. Her escort, David Bellich, outfitted in a multi-colored Mickey Mouse shirt, introudced "Mildrina" at the double coronation ceremony.

WINTER

snow and slush . . . only 13 weeks until spring

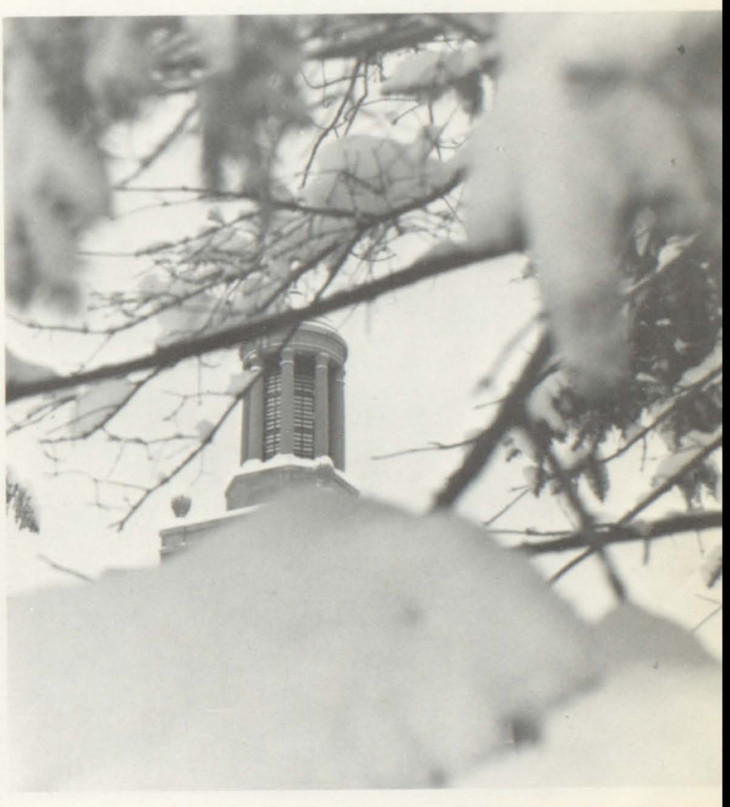

Winter falls in snowflakes. It creeps into the shivering wait for the bus in the cold semi-darkness of the morning. It's wearing your boots to school and forgetting to bring your shoes; it's dropping your books in the snow; it's dripping your wet boots all over the books in your locker. Winter strives on the excitement of a paisley-print maxi dress for the Inaugural Turnabout and a thirteen day Christmas vacation . . . without homework. Winter makes life deviate from the norm by bringing surprise "snow-days" and stalling your bus on the hill and adding ten extra minutes to homeroom periods. Winter brings hidden ice patches that make you fall on the way to school. Getting a carnation on Carnation Day is part of winter. Winter is basketball games and semester exams and snowball fights and warm, woolly mittens. But without people . . . winter is just snow.

For the first time at Lew Wallace, the girls did the asking for Student Council's annual Inaugural Ball. "White Christmas" was the theme of this winter, girl-ask-boy, semi-formal dance held on December 19. The gym was covered with white crepe paper to give a "snowy" effect while Christmas trees decorated with miniature Christmas gift packages added the holiday spirit to the room. Mistletoe hung from the center of the ceiling to add a romantic note to the atmoshpere. The "We Three" trio entertained the two hundred couples from eight to eleven. Couples sailed "Up, Up and Away" at Booster Club's annual turnabout held in March. "Listen" played as the couples danced in the gym decorated with crepe paper in all the light pastel colors of the rainbow.

. . . through athletics

. . . through the confrontation

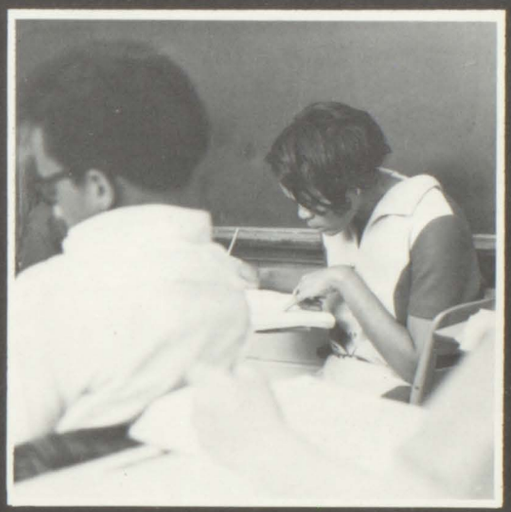

for identity

Through the move toward expanded black awareness, blacks have become more conscious of their heritage and proud of their individual differences. Integration at Lew Wallace is a relatively new thing; many problems must still be solved before black students can experience a sense of identity and equality within our school situation. An attempt was made this year to solve some of the distance problems keeping blacks from participating in extra-curricular activities. With understanding and the desire to surmount any difficulties, more black students will find their special niche at Wallace.

spirit week brings students together

Got spirit? . . . then let's hear it! And Lew Wallace High School really heard it during the week of March 17-28, Spirit Week. Students showed their school support during this week by organizing gimmicks with their classmates and electing spirit queens. Beginning on Monday, frosh wore colored socks and decorated the halls in the West Building. Sophs got together on Tuesday to decorate the third floor in the Main Building and to wear signs displaying sophomore spirit. Juniors wore blue jeans and decorated the first floor to declare the class of '72's spirit. On Thursday the seniors went all out to brighten up the alcove and the main floor to express their school loyalty for the last time. The class of '71 wore hats and "dressed up" to look united. To culminate the week's activities, four girls were selected as class "Spirit Queens" during half-time ceremonies at Friday's game.

community joins seniors — goal: post prom

Clowns, cakes, canes, cookies, and candy added to the excitement of the Class of 1971's main fund-raising project of the year. Kids from seven to seventy were invited to the Fun Fair to join in on an old-fashioned indoor carnival complete with spook house, fish pond, cake walk, wheel of fortune, dart throw, tick-tac-toe, make-up booth, art booth, and ring toss. The seniors worked hard to make this event both profitable and entertaining. They made stuffed animals and other toys to sell at a White Elephant Sale and to give as prizes. Sponsored by the PTA, the Fun Fair was organized to raise money for the senior class's post prom. A successful follow-up to the class of '71's "Junior Jollies," the Fun Fair was unique and entertaining for all Wallace students as well as for the entire Glen Park community.

F ◆ C ◆

What is it about spring that makes a student want to skip classes, soak up some rays at the beach, or just go home to an air-conditioned house and go to bed? Whatever it is, that's what makes spring quarter the hardest time of the school year. Who feels like studying when riding down Broadway or sitting at the clock would be more fun? Although spring is a bad time for studies, it is a great time for activities. Spring at Wallace brings class parties and final exams. Spring is getting your first floor length formal for the Junior-Senior Prom and staying out 'til four in the morning. Spring is brushing your teeth at school and getting a free toothbrush. It's being able to wear "hot pants" on those hot days. It's being a letterman and being honored at the Athletic Banquet. Spring brings caps and gowns for seniors and a time for sadness. needy students helped by S.O.S. contributions

"Money for the Bunny" was the theme of this year's SOS drive for helping needy students in the school city of Gary. Sponsored by the Student Council, SOS week is an annual event in all of the Gary schools. This year the week was highlighted by a pie-eating contest where hungry Lew Wallace boys went face-first into luscious home-made pies prepared by Wallace girls. A tug-of-war broke loose when the rope snapped and kids slid into piles of specially prepared mud in the school gym. Admissions were charged to both events to collect money for the SOS fund. Bunny canisters were also distributed to every classroom for donations by students and teachers. Pennies grew into dollars as the hungry bunnies were stuffed to make the week a successful as well as an entertaining activity for everyone.

students and community join against pollution

Awareness that a problem exists is the first step toward its solution, and this spring, students at Lew Wallace took the "first step" toward the solution of many societal and environmental concerns. On Earth Day, students joined with community leaders to learn how to best combat the pollution dilemma. Art classes created posters urging total society involvement; photography students filmed pollution; business law classes studied possible legal controls. Students attended lectures on population growth and ecology and participated in open discussions with representatives from U.S. Steel. Students joined again later in the month to fight pollution and to conserve natural resources through a community glass recycling drive. Many Lew Wallace students became involved in helping the less fortunate when area schools "walked for the retarded." Adult sponsors donated money based on the number of miles walked by individual hikers.

sophomore class picnic proves to be a successful

Dressing up in Sunday best, coming with fellow classmates, dancing, eating cookies, drinking punch, and having fun together in the decorated school gym . . . just doesn't make it anymore for the freshman and sophomore class parties. So, in an attempt to have a class party without the frills, the sophomores held a class picnic this year at the Helenic Picnic Grounds. The class of '73 got together one afternoon in May to eat hamburgers, play football, participate in sack races, listen to tapes, and roast marshmallows — fun for everyone — with or without a date. The freshmen found out too late that class parties do not always have the enthusiasm of the entire class. Even though all the plans and preparations were made, only forty frosh purchased tickets and the party had to be cancelled.

The new football stadium served its first purpose this year, and it wasn't for a football game or a track meet. Students gathered in the new bleachers on two beautiful spring days to watch as fellow classmates were recognized for outstanding academic and extra-curricular achievements. The two awards presentations are meant to inspire students to set high personal goals in school work and activities and to reward those whose hard work and service rank at the highest level.

classes work together for a "night of nights"

Juniors and seniors combined efforts this year in staging the Junior-Senior Prom, "Night of Nights." Couples danced from eight to eleven p.m. to the music of Johnny Nolan at St. Sava's Serbian Hall. The seniors' Post-Prom took place at Teibel's Restaurant in Schererville, where entertainment was provided by the "Enchanters." The Promenade Hall in Crown Point was the site of the juniors' Post-Prom. The "Sircus" played for the juniors. Colorful flowered prints in the girls' gowns and bright solid colors in the guys' attire added to the atmosphere of springtime present at the prom. After staying out till the wee hours of the night, many of the couples were up and about early the next morning as they headed to Warren Dunes State Park in Michigan or Pokagan State Park in Indiana for more fun to complete a fantastic May 14 weekend.

"let it all hang down!"

Over the cranes, around the cement blocks, through the ditches, and across the stadium seats came the loyal seniors late one June third evening to traditionally "zot" their school. Hundreds of rolls of toilet paper in pastels of pink, blue, yellow, and lilac were unravelled through the few remaining trees to "decorate" Lew Wallace. A sign was suspended above the main entrance of the school to bid Lew Wallace a fond "adieu" from the Class of '71. Lovely spare tires were hung from the roof by a rope to add the final touch to the beautiful decorations. Unfortunately, when excitement and spirit are at such a high pitch, students can forget where fun stops and poor taste begins. To compensate in part for damages resulting from this "fun" by a few, the seniors presented part of their class fund to the school at the Senior Luncheon.

seniors become serious as graduation begins

C ◆ F ◆

For the first time in Lew Wallace's history, the senior Baccalaureate service was not held in the Lew Wallace auditorium. Construction caused the service to be moved to the Forty-third Avenue Presbyterian Church. In the ninety degree heat, four hundred and ninety-two seniors in gray caps and gowns filed into the church as the choir sang the processional hymn, "God of Our Fathers." With perspiration running down foreheads of both students and parents, all sat attentively during the twenty-five minute ceremony in which the Reverend Harold B. Graves officiated. In his Baccalaureate address, Reverend Graves stressed the importance of the responsibilities now resting upon each and every member of the graduating class. Also participating in the service were Reverend Harris and Reverend Capp. Mr. Fissinger directed the Lew Wallace Concert Choir in singing various hymns during the ceremony.

A capacity crowd of friends, relatives, and teachers sat in Memorial Auditorium to watch the 40th Commencement Exercise of Lew Wallace High School. Four hundred ninety-two anxious seniors filed in and took their seats as the Concert Orchestra played the traditional "Pomp and Circumstance." The salutatorian and valedictorian addresses were delivered by Jan Smith and Dale Giolas, respectively. Nina Jacobs presented a piano selection by Chopin, and Maralee Watkins sang a solo by Gounod. Mr. Theodore Nering was on hand to confer diplomas to the graduating seniors. Members of the class moved their tassels from left to right as Mr. Christoff officially presented the graduates of 1971. Half-smiling, half-crying graduates marched out of Memorial Auditorium to congratulate one another and to say goodbye, remembering only fond thoughts of four fun-filled, work-filled years at Lew Wallace.

THE SCHOLARS

principal states his principles

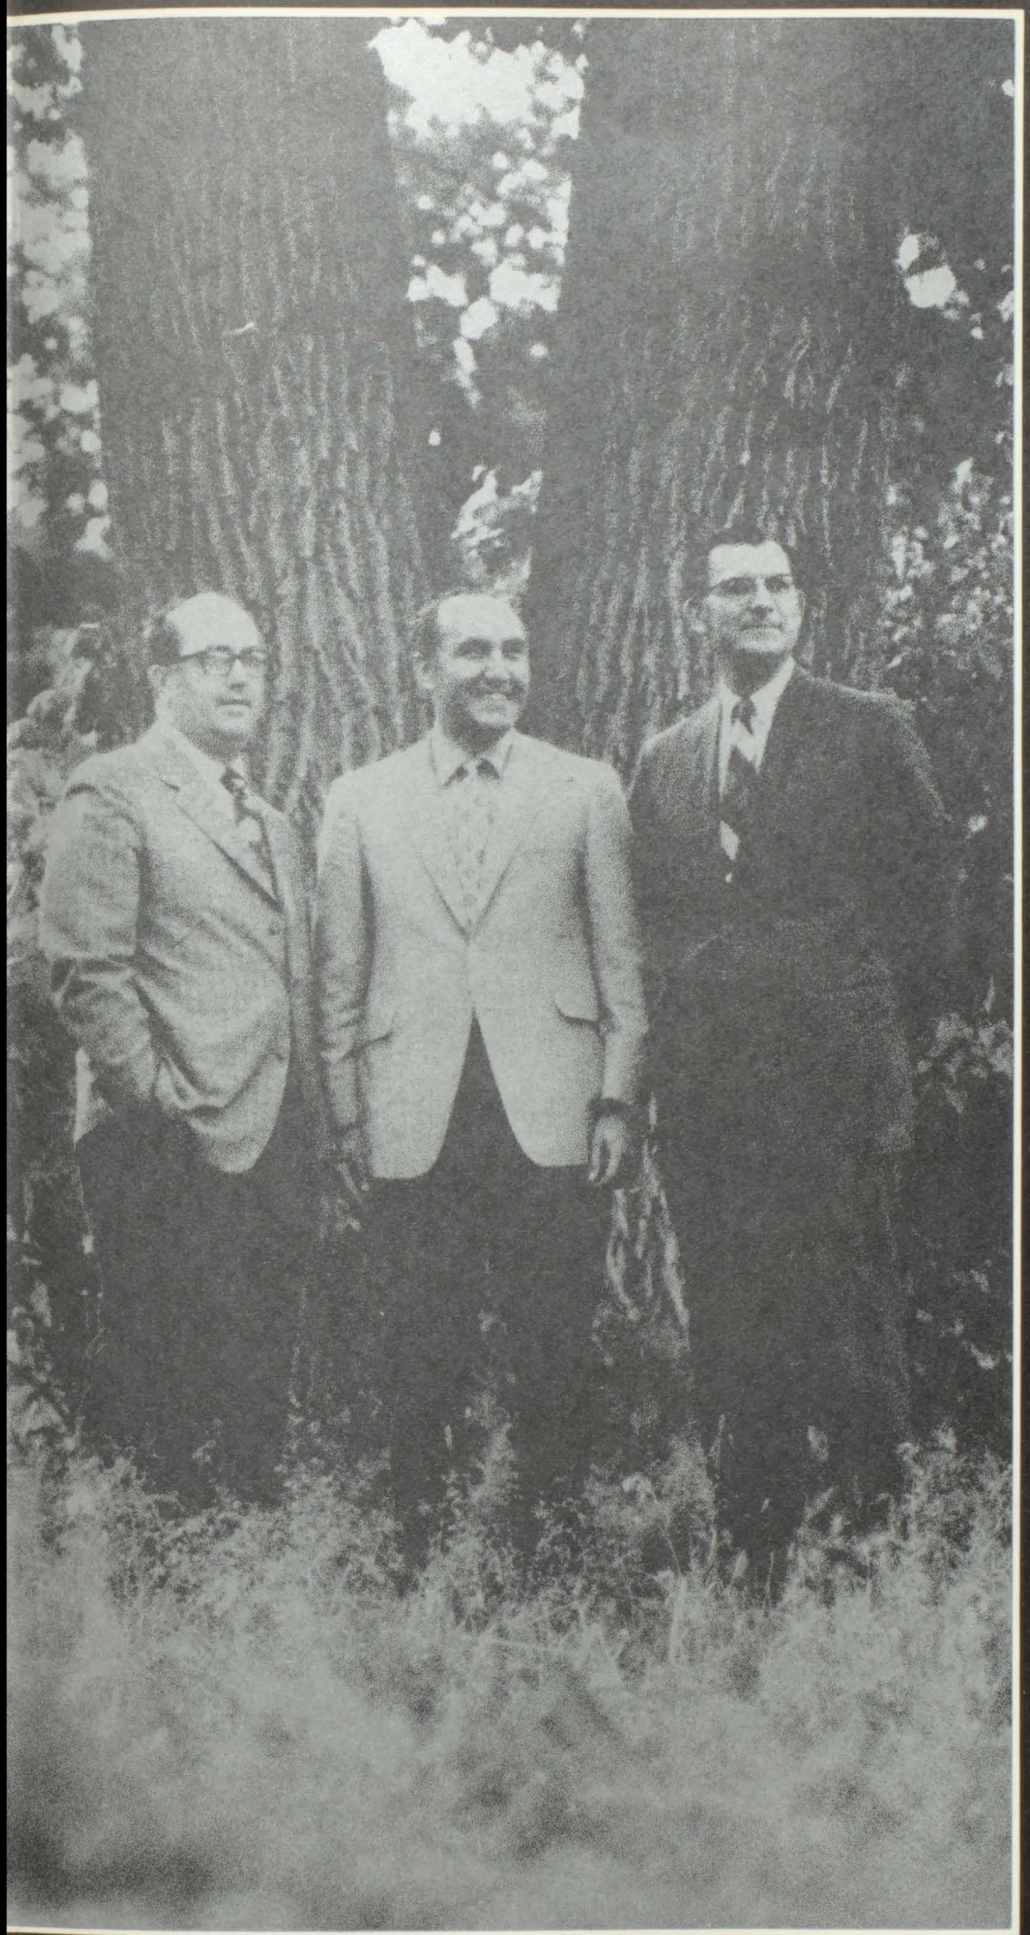

"Generally, students of today are very concerned . . . they are 'issue minded.' They are concerned not only with problems in school but also with problems in society — human concerns. Because of the mass media age in which we live, students are more involved today than ever before. Our students want to play a role in all that the school does. The goals of a school, therefore, emphasize meeting the needs of students by first maintaining communication and understanding between students and teachers . . . and then progressing from there together."

"Carrying the responsibility for two thousand, two hundred, and eighty-six students is not an easy job . . . especially in our world of drugs, racial difficulties, and generation gaps. Students of today are aware of many of the problems facing them and will not always accept 'no' for an answer. A great deal of understanding and concern must be shown by administrators of today's large high schools. Hopefully, we possess a measure of this understanding and concern."

We come to school, get educated, go home. Generally, most students are not very concerned about the people who determine the maintenance of this physical plant and the workings of its academic machinery. Working to broaden communication and to develop an awareness of our literary heritage, the English department stirs student interest through studies of American and English authors. Students are guided in developing insight into human nature through depth reading and analysis of great literary works. This year each grade level received supplementary sets of paperbacks to provide additional material for reading, character analysis, and creative writing. In order to acquaint students with important literature, the department strives to familiarize them with techniques of oral and written reporting, sentence analysis, and panel discussion.

scientists explore, aided by new facilities

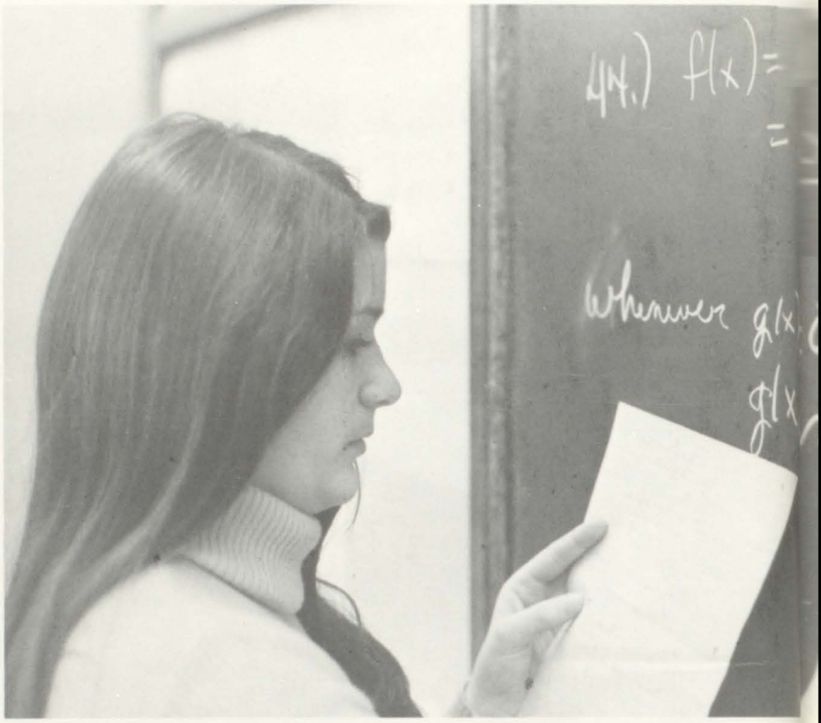

Keeping up with change in the science department doesn't always mean knowing the latest formula. The biggest alterations this year came not in curriculum but facilities. With the opening of the new science rooms, students were allowed more freedom for individual experimentation, as well as a modern exhaust system for eliminating the unpleasant odors produced by the added experimentation. The new equipment and supplies made it possible for students to expand their understanding and appreciation of modern scientific techniques. Advanced courses in physics, chemistry, and biology, plus basic courses in physical and bio-physical science, chemistry, biology, and physics were offered within the department.

a "calculated" risk to some; the bread of life to others

To help meet the demands of today's technical and complex society, the math department provides students with a variety of programs. A two-year Algebra I sequence is offered which gives students an in-depth background of algebra plus the needed skills to extend algebra into other fields. Other math courses offered include general math, senior math, trigonometry, calculus, and analytical geometry. The math program is designed to enable future mathematicians to fit into our vastly changing society.

studies stress social awareness

In the courses offered by the social studies department, emphasis is placed upon the understanding of various problems in society and upon the student's involvement with these problems and their solutions. While courses such as United States history, government, and economics remain the basis of the program, more topical classes relating to the present social situations are also available. These include such courses as Afro-American history and social problems. All social studies courses offered by the department introduce students to important aspects of society and emphasize awareness of these aspects now and in the future. As students leave the formal educational environment, they enter a world requiring knowledge and understanding. The social studies department at Lew Wallace attempts to equip students with these understandings so essential to a satisfying and meaningful life.

practical experience is main objective of business department

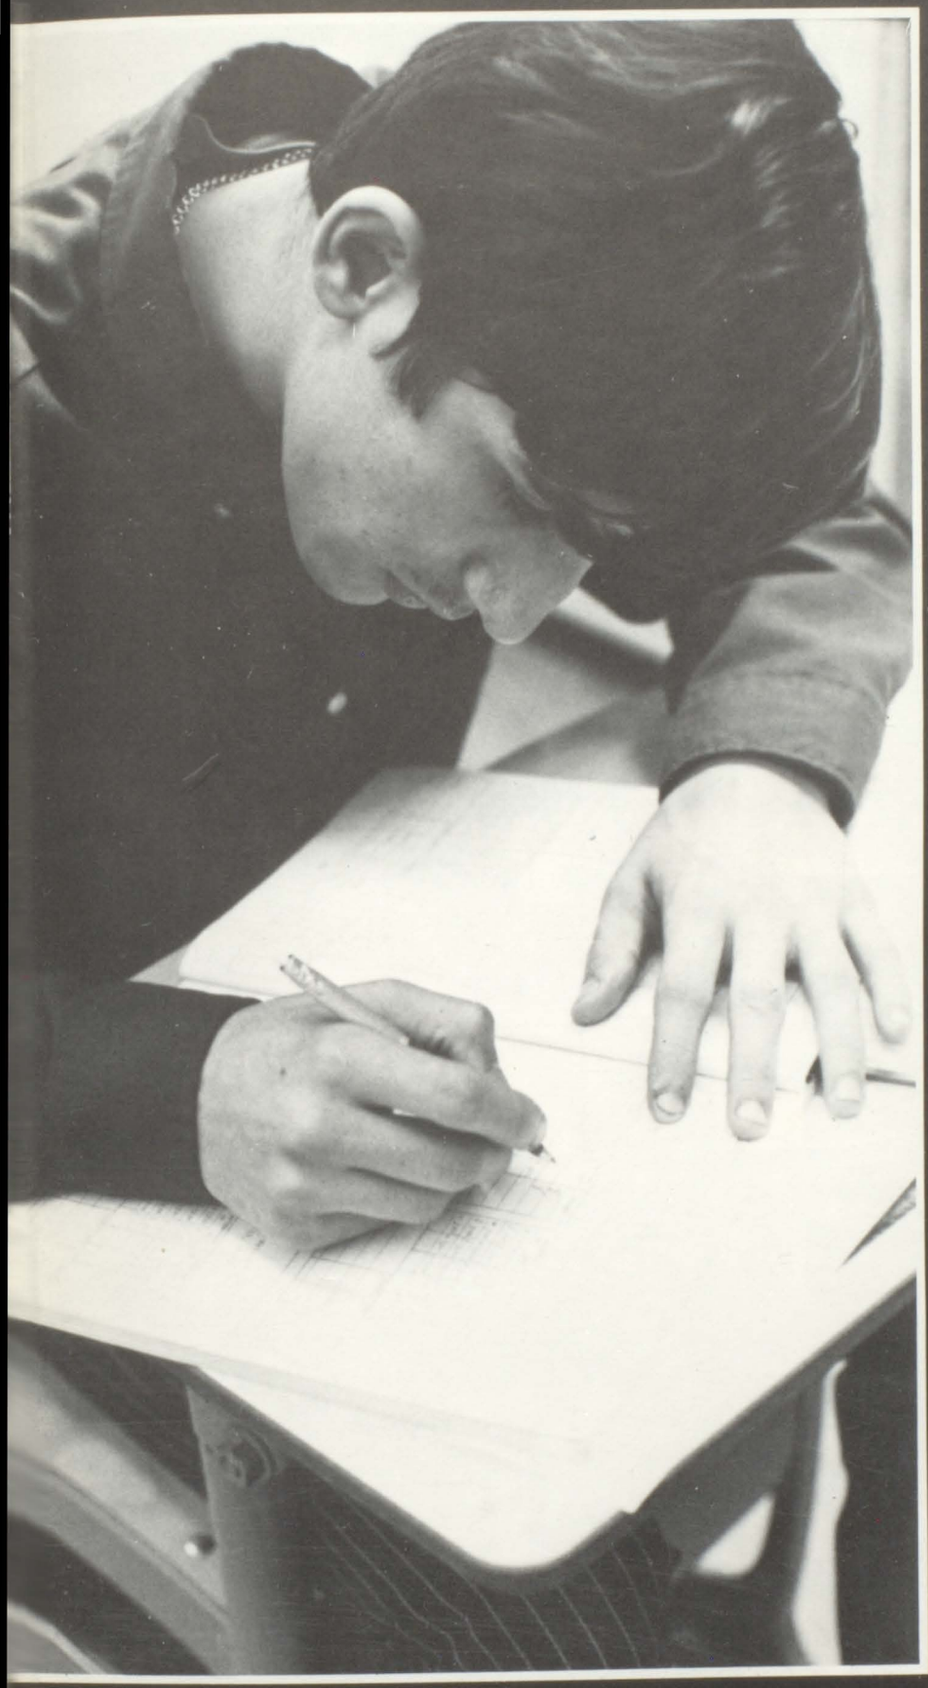

Preparing students for employment in business offices and providing an opportunity for the student to gain practical experience are two of the major objectives of the business department. While waiting for next year's new facilities, students concentrated on such vocational courses as shorthand, bookkeeping, advanced typing, and clerical practice. On the practical side, courses such as general business, personal typing, and business law acquainted students with general knowledge that is beneficial in today's world.

language study aids world understanding

In a world composed of people with varied origins and backgrounds, bilingual knowledge becomes an essential part of a school's academic program. Lew Wallace has incorporated a variety of foreign languages into its curriculum to meet the demands of a multi-lingual society. French, German, Spanish, and Russian are languages which students may study at various levels. Students progress from audio-visual experience to reading and interpreting. Finally, they attempt personal expression through writing assignments. Students are also acquainted with the cultural aspects of each language at all levels.

from nuts and bolts to dream machine

The Industrial Arts classrooms were the first to benefit from this year's construction. New units in plastics and ceramics were opened in the woodshop classrooms. A foundry unit, vertical mills, and welding areas were added to the metal shops. Power mechanics was offered for the first time at Wallace this year with motor analyzers, outboard test tanks, and other new machines. Industrial arts' students became acquainted with industry by operating machinery that would be used in future occupations in the industrial world.

more to home ec than pins and pans

The hum-drum cook and sew days are in the past, and the Lew Wallace home economics department is keeping right in step with emphasis on fashion design, nutrition, home nursing, family living, child care, and the practical side of homemaking. Students are guided in the development of attitudes and skills essential in coping with personal and family problems and in becoming responsible consumers of the future. In clothing and foods classes, opportunities for creativity and self-expression are stressed. Students are encouraged to develop individuality as well as modern home economics skills and to appreciate the value of poise and personal pride in their role as young homemakers of the future.

fine arts department accents creativity

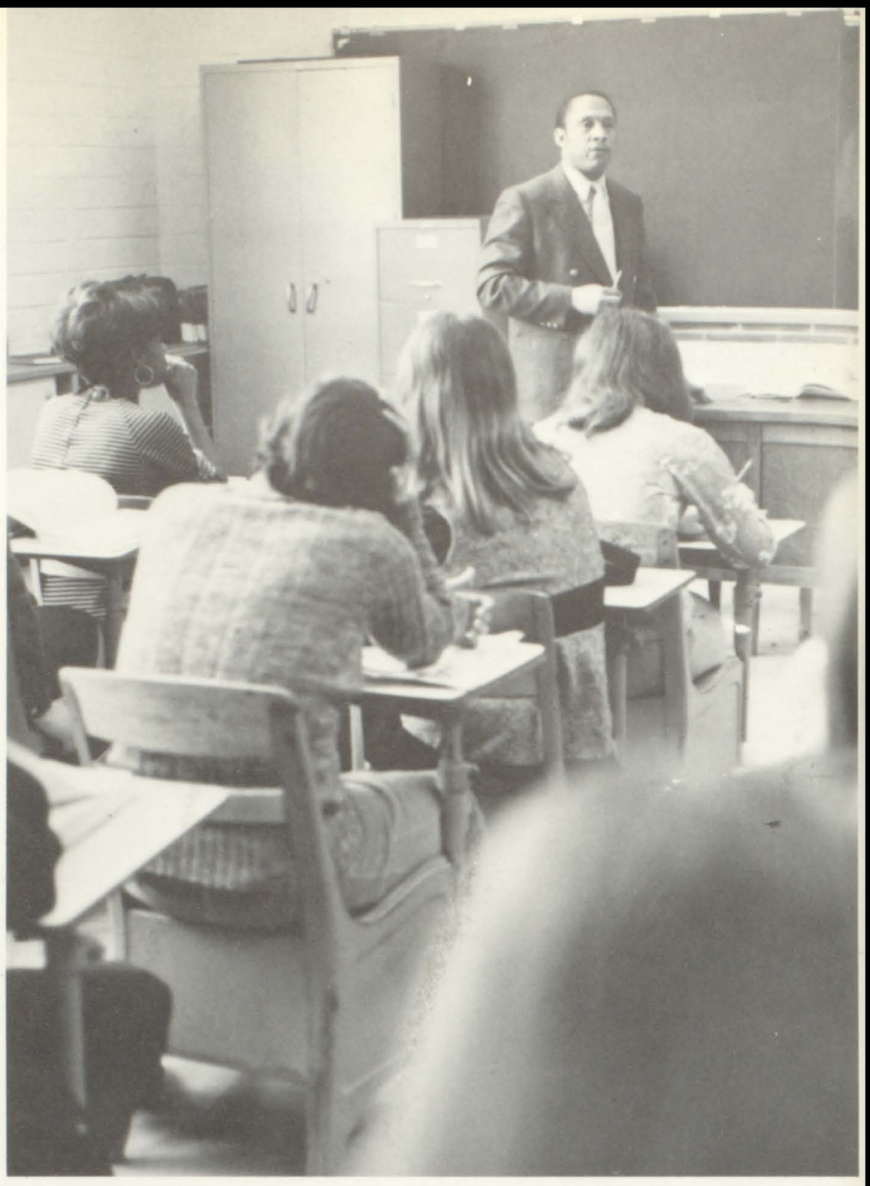

The wide range of courses offered within the fine arts department provides many opportunities for the student interested in photography, art, drama, radio broadcasting, or music. Because success in the fine arts is based upon the exhibiting of a distinctive style of self-expression, students enrolled in these classes are encouraged to develop and improve their own artistic technique. While construction hampered the activities of drama and music students whose home base had been the auditorium, the new art rooms and the photography lab provided improved equipment and sufficient working room for many students.

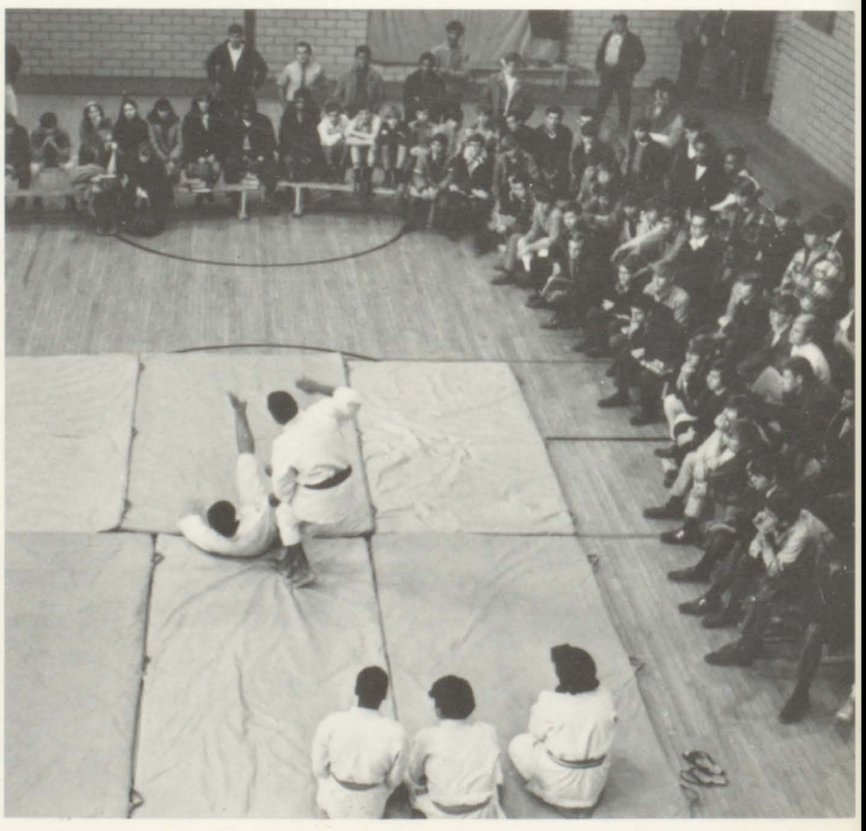

phys ed develops bodies, character

"On your backs, girls! One hundred sit-ups in five minutes. Now, I want you to remember — Phys Ed is fun!" Believe it or not, at Lew Wallace, there's more to physical education classes than just sit-ups and jumping jacks. Although the courses at Wallace strive to build healthy bodies through daily exercise, the department also stresses the importance of good sportsmanship and good citizenship. Team sports help to develop good group spirit between students while giving them knowledge of the basic sports rules. In the fast-moving world of today, the need for students to become knowledgeable about first aid procedures and accident prevention has become greater than ever before. Health and safety classes give students some of the answers on questions concerning narcotics, alcohol, and tobacco, allowing students to become more aware of the dangers involved in their use.

when we need someone to talk to . . . guidance

In an attempt to help the individual student better understand himself and the world around him, guidance counselors placed emphasis on vocational education for underclassmen, as well as for seniors. In addition to program planning and career consultations, counselors aided students in solving personal problems and conflicts and in developing better self-understanding. Small group counseling sessions were introduced to further develop maximum individual potential. Other services within the department included those provided by the social counselors, student health specialists, and school psychologists.

job skills nurtured at tech school

Gary's Technical Vocational Center places emphasis on helping its students develop the skills and knowledge necessary for success in vocational and technical careers. At the Tech School, courses have been designed to cater to the individual student. This year, many Wallace juniors and seniors enrolled in the clusters of courses on a half-day basis. Through its specialized learning facilities, the Tech School has furnished the career-minded students of Gary with modern on-the-job training. A special feature at the Tech is the new cosmetology course; upon successful completion, the student is certified as a cosmetologist by the State of Indiana.

WE . . .

student council . . . aware, involved, united

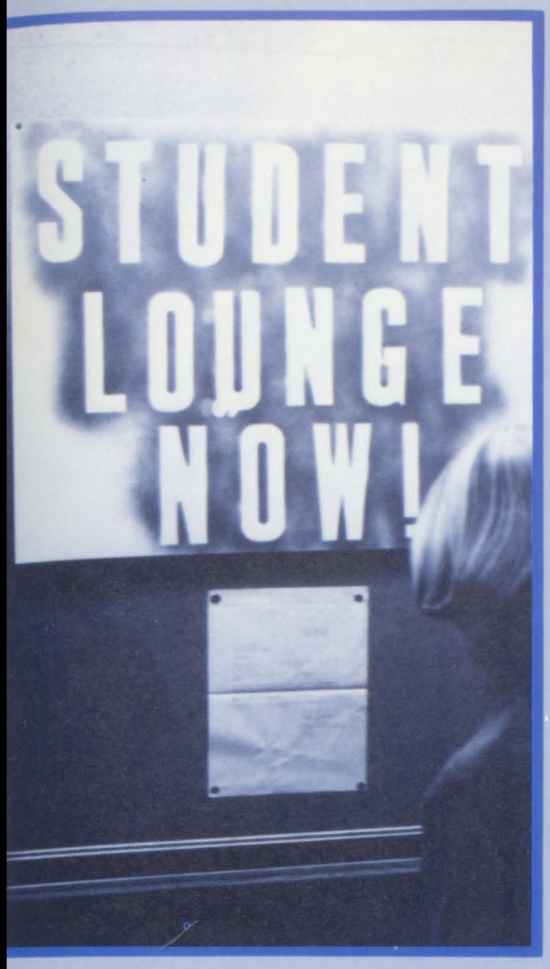

The time had come for change. A freer, more aware feeling was sensed in the halls of the school. Students finally came together . . . involved in the problems of their school. And the Student Council helped to make it happen. Hands joined, students worked to achieve their goals and to prove that by standing united, they wouldn't fail! They fought for their right to dress as individuals — result: no dress code! The students helped to solve their differences by adopting a Student Unity Bill. They expressed their concern for their country through Earth Day activities. They fought for certain privileges they believed to be fair — a student lounge. The Student Council of 1970-71 enabled more students to become involved and to become a part of Lew Wallace.

council provides an array of activities

The annual activities sponsored by Student Council were modified somewhat this year. Beginning in September with Homecoming, the procedures for selecting the Homecoming Queen were altered because of a few misunderstandings between students. A new attraction, the crowning of a "Yugoslavian Homecoming Queen," was added to the halftime ceremonies. In December, the annual Inaugural Ball was modified to become the first Inaugural Turnabout at Lew Wallace. The year-old Basketball Homecoming saw additional changes when the crowning of one queen was extended to the crowning of one Spirit Queen from each grade level. The queens were presented with roses during halftime ceremonies at a basketball game. Spirit Week and SOS Week were carried out in the same manner as in the past. The first outdoor Awards Days were conducted this year. Students gathered in the new football stadium to watch their fellow classmates receive recognition for outstanding school and extracurricular work.

girls' club blends fun and work

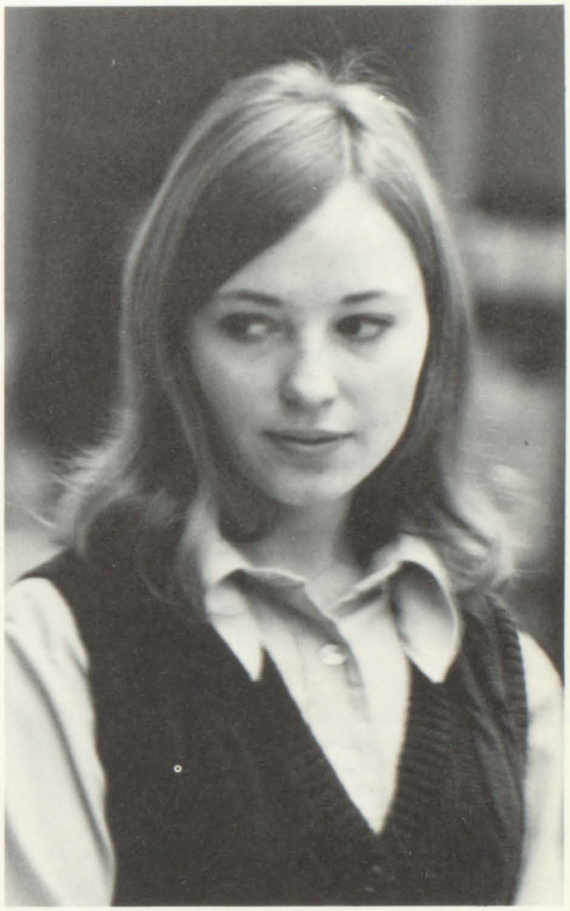

Girls' Club kicked off the new school year with traditional Freshman Week activities designed to introduce freshman girls to "life at Lew Wallace" — complete with its customs and traditions, joys and sorrows, activities and responsibilities. Upperclassmen offered suggestions during "Girl Talk" and presented a special style show for the new students. Senior "big sisters" were assigned, and the Mother-Daughter Tea and Get-Acquainted Day completed the week's activities. Girls' Club members added spirit to the Christmas season with their caroling and humor and life to the winter months with the Birthday Potluck festivities.

Club "W" is an organization designed to provide recognition for all Lew Wallace athletes who meet the physical and scholastic requirements for membership set by the school and the IHSSA. Members must have earned a major letter in one of the following sports; football, basketball, golf, tennis, baseball, swimming, wrestling, track, and cross country. Lettermen represent Lew Wallace in competitive athletics and boost team enthusiasm and school spirit. Coach Polizotto sponsors the club. Officers for 1970-1971 include Tony Nikolich, president; Paul Diamond, vice-president; and Tim Miles, secretary-treasurer.

students learn now teach later

Organized to stir the interests of Lew Wallace students considering education as a career possibility, the Future Teachers Club provided an opportunity for members to investigate training requirements and career benefits through informal group discussions. Possibilities within the special education field were given first-hand consideration when members visited the Association for Retarded Children. Taking time out for fun, FTC members found they needed a little tutoring themselves — they identified their weak points while horse-back-riding at stables in St. John. The club was re-organized late in the school year under a new sponsor, Miss Jo Hay.

Club members also worked to prepare Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for a needy family. To be eligible for membership in the Home Ec Club, a girl must be enrolled in or must have completed a home economics course and must submit a theme stating her reasons for joining the club. The club promotes the satisfactions of homemaking and encourages democracy in home and community life.

all the world's a stage . . .

The old saying, "The Show Must Go On," really applied to the Thespians this year.
Due to the construction, the group moved in and out of the auditorium all year.
Cold weather forced the actors to create a "Little Theatre" in room 14M to use for their performances. "York Nativity Play," a Christmas play, was the first performance in the group's new surroundings.
The actors also presented an original play. "Alice in Blunderland," for freshman Orientation Week.
In order to become a member of this international drama group, a student must earn a required number of points through performances on the stage.
This year the group reached outside of school to participate in the City Drama Festival.

Performances on the stage were hindered by the bustling construction and the chilling atmosphere of the auditorium, but the Players managed to enjoy themselves in spite of their unstable surroundings. Membership was open to all students with interest in the theatrical arts. Although the activities of the Girls' Athletic Association were restricted due to construction, the girls made the best of what they had. Using Melton's facilities for volleyball games and the student parking lot for a softball field, the club organized teams which all members could join. Indoor sports weren't ignored; bowling leagues were open to all members during the entire year. The club sponsored a winter ski trip where sixty teachers and students enjoyed themselves at Wilmot Mountain in Wisconsin. In June, the Diplomat Inn was the scene of the annual year-end Awards Banquet. Trophies were awarded to winning teams and outstanding GAA members, and the 1970-71 slate of officers was initiated. Swimming in the Diplomat pool and an informal "banquet" of hot dogs and hamburgers completed the evening's activities.

Students who rank scholastically in the top 10% of the graduating class earn the title of Honor Students. These graduates were recognized at Commencement this year with the honor of wearing gold tassels. The group consisted of fifty students with grade averages of 3.2 or above. Leading these fifty students was Dale Giolas with a 4.297 grade average. Jan Smith, who was behind Dale by only one summer school course, ranked second with a 4.294 grade average.

A select group of students is chosen each year for induction into the National Honor Society by faculty and administrators. Students are chosen on the basis of outstanding scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Seniors must have maintained a 3.0 average for seven semesters and juniors a 3.0 average for five semesters in order to be eligible for National Honor Society membership.

The admission of Spanish I students into Los Amigos for the first time this year enabled members to participate in a greater variety of activities. Besides adding to their understanding of French people and customs, members of Les Parisiens participated in many fund-raising and social activities. Members acquainted themselves with French cuisine by visiting the Cafe La Tour Restaurant in Chicago and by sampling a French dinner prepared by one of the club members. Regular meetings were highlighted by guest speakers, and films from Ellen Manolopoulos' trip to France added variety and a realistic view of tourism in Paris. Other club activities included the annual Mardi Gras, a bake sale, a trip to the Chicago Art Institute, and a Christmas caroling party.

Latin students who survive the ordeal of the initiation at the beginning of the year become official members of Olympians. Meeting every second and fourth Tuesday, the club strives to further student interest in the study of Roman history and culture. To raise money for the club, members held bake sales throughout the year. This project provided fun for Olympians and funds for the club's social activities. citywide forum studies worldwide problems

First hand contact with professional and political foreign services personnel was the most meaningful activity of the year for the Lew Wallace WAF members. Through monthly conferences held in Chicago by the Chicago Foreign Relations Council, members met representatives of foreign governments and our own U.S. State department to discuss policies pertinent to world crises. Gary area member schools send student representatives to the forum, a city-wide organization where international, national, and local affairs are discussed.

A trip to the Chicago Opera House to see the Omsk Siberian State Company highlighted the year for the Russian Club. Members also participated in a field trip to the Chicago Art Institute, a roller skating party, and a horseback riding excursion. The club supplements and enhances the study of Russian and provides opportunities outside of the classroom for students to learn more about the culture of Russian speaking people. Composed of a fairly small group of members, the Russian Club expanded its efforts this year to become a more "active" group.

No Wallace student went home hungry this year thanks to the candy sales every day after school in the alcove. But selling candy was not the Chess Club's primary purpose. Members competed in chess matches with several local schools, and in February the team won the Lake-Porter County High School Chess Tourney. Richard Swiatek, participating in thirteen major and minor tourneys in his three years on the team, was considered the number one player for the team. Co-captains, Dave Bade and Joe DelleRose, were also tough competitors. The Chess Club, which is organized to attract the interest of chess enthusiasts, is sponsored by Mr. Pieroni.

Through Distributive Education Clubs of America, students learn fundamentals of marketing, merchandising, and management. DECA maintains four primary goals: planning, financing, and executing social events to gain an understanding of what is socially acceptable; developing a respect for education in marketing and distribution which will contribute to vocational competence; recognizing obligations to community needs by planning worthwhile projects; and promoting understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive enterprise system.

Interest in mathematics is the only requirement necessary for students who are considering membership in the Math Club. Members get together informally at club meetings to work on math projects and to help on difficult problems. Club enthusiasm this year centered around plans for a spring trip. Student Lounge Soon To Be Reality

By Carol Rusnock

After years of waiting Lew Wallace has a lounge in its future. Dr. Haron Battle, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, and Principal Christ Christoff have indicated that student efforts toward this goal may soon prove successful.

One such student effort was the 7 hour circulation of a lounge petition resulting in 1089 student signatures. These signatures were presented to Dr. Battle and Mr. Christoff by Student Council.

The practical aspect of the student endeavor will be the lounge itself. But one ignored aspect of the lounge controversy is the experience concerned students are gaining in tactical persuasion and channels of authority.

It all began with the idea revised this year by a Philosopher editorial and taken up by the Student Council. The council began the campaign by forming a Student Lounge Action Committee.

Then inexperienced in methods of obtaining a desired goal committee members took the idea directly to the administration. Immediately students were bombarded with questions of finance, supervision, and location.

Committee members returned reluctantly to the planning tables and attempted to find solutions to some of the problems confronting them. After many long hours of committee meeting and two more conferences with the administration, students felt a display of support by the entire student body would help to convince administrators that this was not just another passing phase.

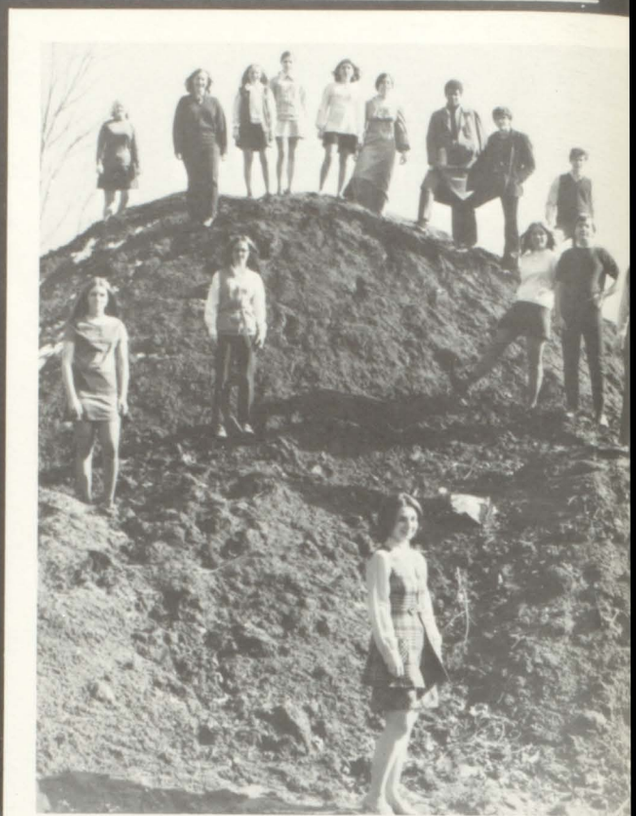

Council members circulated petitions and surpassed their goal of 1000 student signatures. These petitions were accompanied by a faculty petition of 76 names - an overwhelming majority of Wallace's 103 teachers.

Dr. Battle and Mr. Christoff both expressed enthusiasm at the possibility of obtaining a student lounge at Lew Wallace. But they also expressed concern over the present lack of funds to finance the area.

Although there are many problems in initiating any new facility, the need for a lounge has at last been recognized

Carol Rusnock, Editor.

April Fools Joke A Reality

"I thought it was just another April Fool's joke. In fact, I still can't believe it," said Rose Popovic when she first learned she was a winner of the Quill and Scroll's National Writing Contest.

Rose is the editorial page editor of the PHILOSOPHER.

As a winner Rose received Quill and Scroll's National Award Gold Key for her editorial "How About It?" which appeared in the January 28, 1971 issue of the PHILOSOPHER.

Rose is now eligible to apply for an Edward J. Nell Memorial Scholarship in Journalism. The scholarship has a value of $500 each to be paid in two equal installments at the beginning of the freshman and sophomore years at any college offering a major in journalism.

Seniors Plan Fun Fair

This year the seniors plan to sponsor a Fun Fair to raise money for the post-prom.

The Fun Fair, which will include about 25 game, art, and refreshment booths, will be Friday, March 26 from 5:00 to 10.00 p.m. in the cafeteria area.

Some of the booths planned are a cakewalk, spookhouse, jail, country store, white elephant sale, and games of skill. Booths will be decorated in red, white and blue.

The student organizers are prom chairmen Georgian Mandon, and Dave Bellich, and seniors Paulette Martin, and Linda Rusnock. The P.T.A. chairman is Mrs. Carl Wolozanski and the co-chairman is Mrs. Mike Bellich.

The Enchanters will provide the entertainment for the post-prom to take place at Teibel's Restaurant from 12-4 a.m.

Class Of '71 To Wear Gray Caps, Gowns

Seniors will complete their years at Lew Wallace this spring in traditional graduating style - with gray caps and gowns.

They will, however, be privileged to wear black and gold tassels in place of gray ones. The honor students will have gold tassels.

When teachers voted to have gold instead of gray caps and gowns, they were unaware that the administrators had already signed a contract, now in effect for this year. Gray gowns for graduating apparel was indicated in this contract.

A contract requesting gold caps and gowns for next year's graduating seniors is being set

100 Awards to be presented on Awards Days-May 18 &19

About 100 awards will be presented on Freshman-Sophomore and Junior - Senior Awards Day, to honor students who have devoted their time and effort towards school activities.

Freshman-Sophomore Day

To give recognition to upperclassmen, Freshman - Sophomore Awards Day will take place on Friday, May 18, during periods 2 and 3.

Similar to the Junior-Senior Awards, there will be awards presented to students for their superior achievements in academic subjects and practical arts, and to those who are outstanding in clubs.

Some of the Special Recognition Awards to be presented are the Outstanding Freshman Athlete, Perfect Attendance, and the Freshman Courtesy Award.

Junior-Senior Day

Awards will be given to upperclassmen for their outstanding achievements at the Junior-Senior Awards Day assembly on Thursday, May 19, during the 6 and 7 periods.

Medals and certificates will be awarded to outstanding members of organizations and of academic subjects and practical arts.

Several Special Recognition Awards will also be presented at the assembly. Among the special awards is the Mary Cheever Award given to an outstanding senior girl for her Athlete Award, and the Most Valuable Player Award, given to senior guys, and the Perfect Attendance Award.

Awards Day, an annual activity of the Student Council is headed by Kathy Bell, senior.

Teen Center To Open

By Janet Hernandez

Area students will now have their own meeting place. A youth center for high school students will be available at the YMCA located at 3800 Harrison Street.

The YMCA is sponsoring the program with the hope that students will meet and be able to relax, talk, or dance without being "kicked out."

Records, pool tables, and a judo room are just a few of the facilities provided for entertainment. Refreshments will be sold at low prices.

A youth Counsel consisting of 21 students from Lew Wallace, Andrean, Calumet, and Merrillville High Schools have been meeting to plan the operation of the recreation center. Wallace representatives are Debbie Capp, Sandy Domanski, Dale Giolas, Rex Polovitch, and Millie Samardzija.

Chaperones will be provided by the YMCA. Mr. Paul Popen is in charge of the youth center activities.

inkpots analyze modern lit

Does a club that reads Love Story, Airport, and Steppenwolf sound like a stuffy old book-reading club? Hardly.

One of the purposes of the Inkpots is to read and discuss contemporary and traditional literature, but the members take part in many other activities too. During Christmas vacation, Inkpot members got together at Mary Williams' home where they had a gift exchange and refreshments. In April, members took a trip to Chicago to see the play, "Promises, Promises." Sophomore and junior Inkpots said farewell to senior members with a final get-together, an outdoor barbeque at Miriam Richter's home in the spring.

orchestra students follow the magic wand

String, wind, and percussion players blend together at Wallace to form the Lew Wallace Concert Orchestra. Members participated in several out-of-school concerts this year including a performance for the School Employees Credit Union. The Orchestra also entertained the IDR teachers at the Holiday Inn and played for the students of Webster School. The group ended the year with their annual Spring Concert which was held in the auditorium. Spring also brought the finish of the long-awaited new rooms for the orchestra.

chorus entertains with "let it be"

Contemporary music highlighted "Let It Be," the choral department's first musical production of the year. The group, arranged on construction equipment on the stage, utilized mood-setting lights to make the entire program effective. The choir provides entertainment at many school functions including Baccalaureate and Commencement. Choir members continue to excel in individual performances as well as organized school concerts. Year after year the Lew Wallace choir members receive top honors in the NISBOVA competition. This year construction in the auditorium limited the number of productions given by the choir; the cafeteria became the stage for the end of the year reunion concert and several other choir performances during the year.

Precision, timing, form, poise, and discipline are the key words for success in drilling. Perfection in this area is what the Wallace girls' and boys' drill teams strive for in their numerous and enduring practices. Both drill teams have been recognized in city competition. Ousting Roosevelt's Girls' Drill Team from their winning streak, the girls won coveted first place honors in the city girls' drill competition. The boys placed third in a much tougher competition that included several drill teams. Untiring effort, countless hours of devotion, and leadership of Mrs. Thompson and Sgt. Blocker helped spur the teams to success.

gridders determined in spite of losses

Hearts throbbed, throats ached, bleachers bounced, and tempers flared. The cheerleaders led the crowd in "We're from Wallace High School" at least ninety-three times a game. All the spirit and excitement was there . . . but not the necessary speed. With twelve returning lettermen, the Hornets had hopes of bouncing back after the 1969, 1-8 season. Although the team had a good end line-up, they didn't have enough team swiftness to be winners. Their first fight of the season, against Valpo, left the Hornets on the wrong side of the 47-13 final score, but this game served to spotlight several solid defensive players — Bob Dragich, Atse Krstevski, and Jon Davis. Although the team dropped the next two games to Mann and Rooseyelt, they cinched a victory in the Emerson game. The Hornets showed determination and spirit in this game that continued for the rest of the season.

Andrean was next and the only good thing about that game was the Homecoming activities. The Hornets made up for this loss in the West Side game where Gino Travline powered the Hornets for a victory. Though the team's 2-7 final record was not impressive, individual strength was shown. Atse Krstevski was recognized as All-State Champ and John Maksimovich and Roger Adank received All-City titles.

reserves look hopefully to '71 season

What can you say about a football team that failed to score a touchdown all season? That it's not if you win or lose but how you play the game? That if at first you don't succeed try, try again? Winless in their 1970 season, our reserve football team seemed to fit the description rather well. But no opponent had an easy time of holding Lew Wallace scoreless as our reserves exhibited a superior defense. Not once did they let a team slip by with more than a two touchdown lead, and Emerson was blocked from scoring at all. Yes, we had a good defense, but the power to score just wasn't there. Well there's always next year.

two wins highlight freshman season

In spite of a disappointing 2-6 final record, the frosh football team gained firsthand experience in football tactics. Several players were noted as possible varsity material. Although the season opener against Roosevelt ended with Wallace on the bottom of a 6-0 score, the Hornets rallied to hand a 20-6 defeat to Hammond Morton. The gridders then followed through with a 10-0 score against Emerson, leaving the Tornados in a whirlwind of despair. In a close match against Tolleston, frosh players began the losing streak which continued through the end of the season.

"wild bill's" hornets post 14-7 season

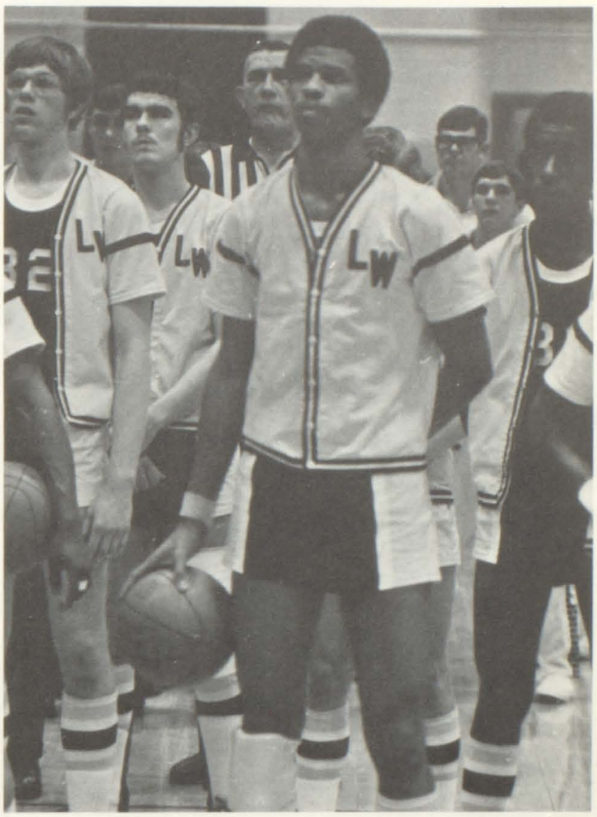

The enthusiasm of the student body the day after the Roosevelt game, the tension of playing before a standing-room-only crowd, the sorrow in the locker room after the double overtime defeat to Emerson . . . These were the highlights of the 1970-71 Hornet basketball season. There was some sadness . . . but with it, overwhelming joy and pride in a top-ranked team that brought honor and recognition back to Lew Wallace for the first time in many years. The cagers' teamwork was the key to their thrilling 14-7 record. The squad started off right by swamping Wirt, 75-41. Although they dropped their next two games, the Hornets made an outstanding comeback in the 91-81 victory over Andrean. Wallace was expected to submit meekly to powerful West Side in the Holiday Tournament, but the Hornets made the Cougars work for every point. It wasn't until the last 56 seconds that the Cougars were able to take the lead again and hold it to end the game, 77-71.

no end in sight to hornet victories

On January 5th, the power of the Hornet cagers was unleashed to begin an outstanding eight game winning streak. Merrillville was the first victim of our team's mighty attack. The Hornets' sizzling .520 field goal average and strong defense put Wallace on top all the way and netted a final score of 89-61. Blackmon, Darter, and Grant combined for 67 points against Mann, stinging the Horsemen, 87-77. Blackmon stashed ten straight field goals in first-half play against Emerson and amassed thirty-two points to make it an easy third win. The squad won the next six games, including that against Valpo, a team that Wallace had not defeated since 1953. Bartley's great defensive playing made him the leading man in this 73-67 victory. Griffith was the last of the "Great Eight" victories. In the first half of play, Wallace sank seventeen consecutive free throws to leave the Panthers trailing. The Hornets cranked up their running game in the last four minutes to outscore the Panthers, 85-75.

Center: Basket after basket; win after win . . . Above: In the last of the "Great Eight," Bartley struggles with Panther cagers for the rebound.

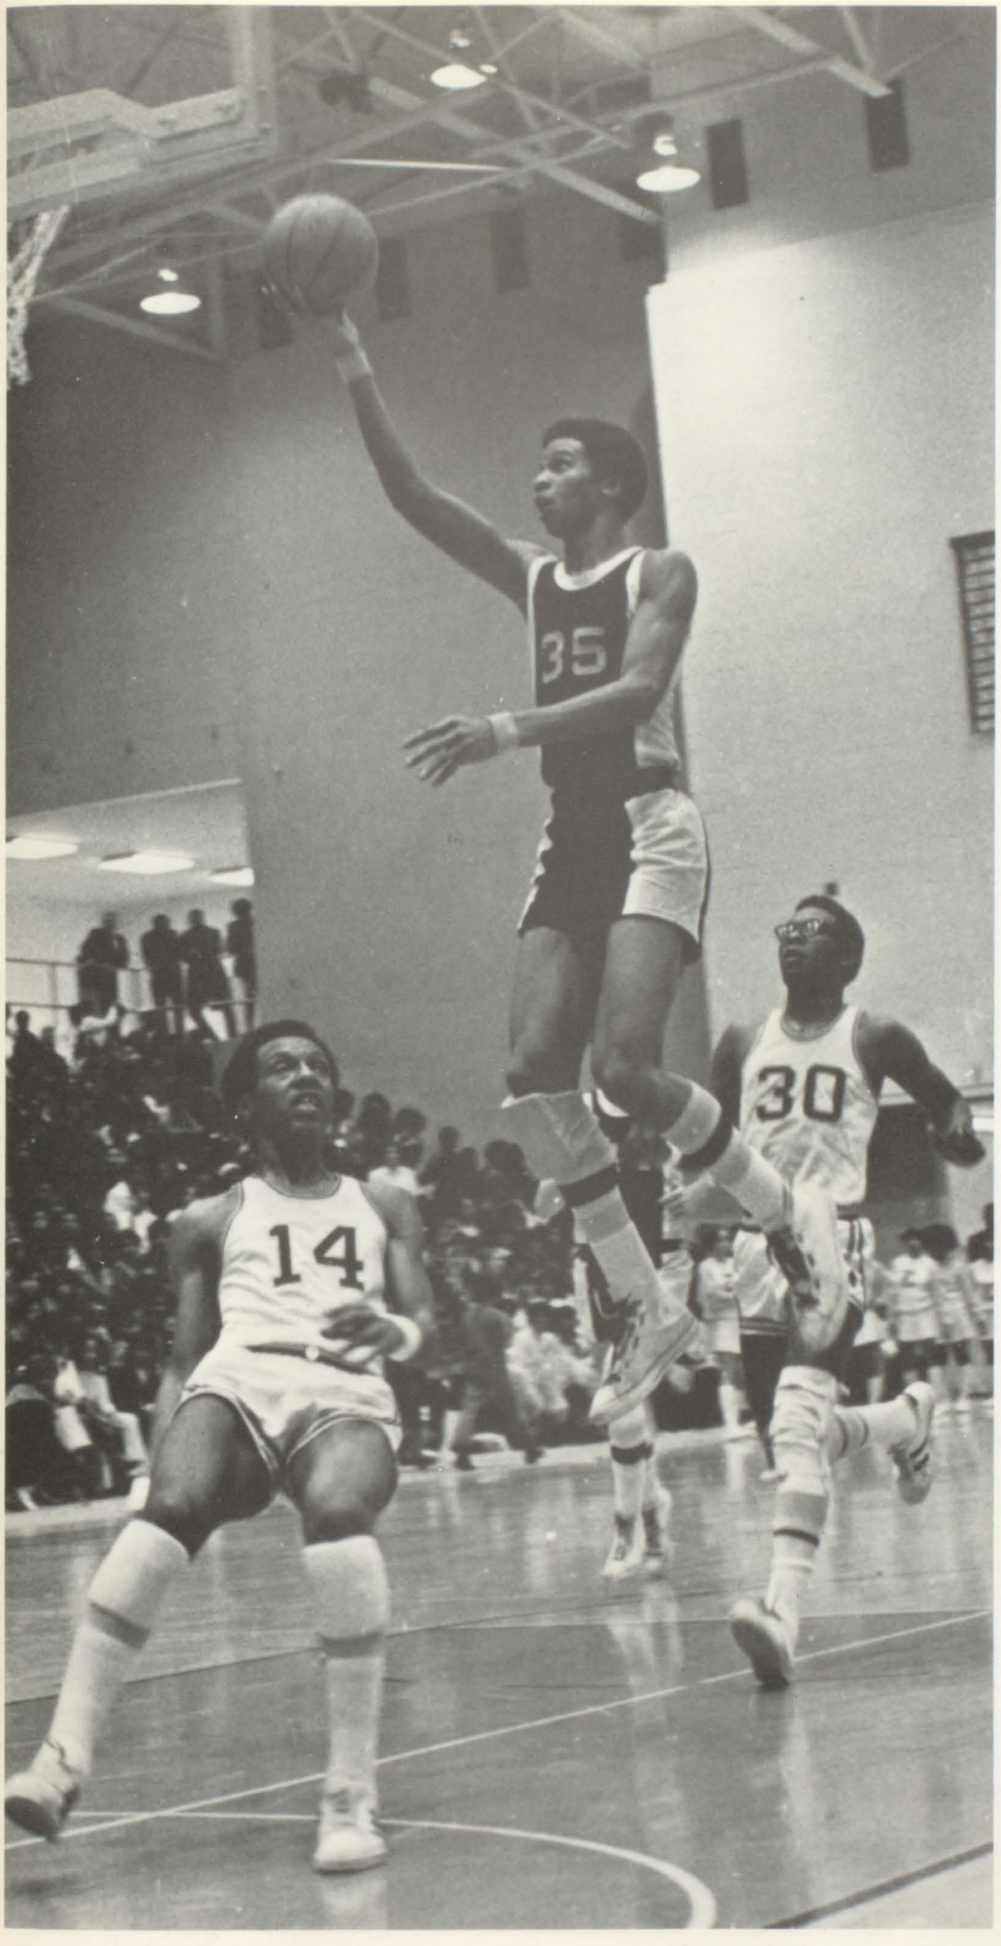

Perhaps the greatest victory fashioned by the Hornets was the opening game of the 1971 Sectionals when Wallace defeated the Panthers of Roosevelt for the first time since 1953. Although the game began as a runaway for the Panthers, the Hornets battled back in the third quarter with Wesson's four solid field goals. With seconds to go, two fouls were called against the Hornets and miraculously the Panthers missed all three free shots. Wesson picked up a lost Roosevelt ball and passed it to Blackmon who panned an under-the-basket field goal with one second on the clock. The next sectional game was against Emerson and the Hornets looked great. The crowd roared with excitement as the regulation time ran out and the teams were tied. The teams stayed even until the Norsemen opened the second overtime with a field goal followed by seven straight free shots to give Emerson a lead that the Hornets couldn't catch . . . the season ended . . . the cagers were saddened by this final defeat . . . but the 1970-71 basketball season was the best in a long time, and OUR TEAM WAS GREAT!!

close scores mark reserve season

Big Mike's preppies with their anxious hopes of filling vacant spots on next year's varsity squad acquired valuable experience and playing ability. Grappling with their foe, they posted a heartbreaking 3-18 record. However, excitement was not lacking in their defeats. Many games were lost by margins of less than 4 points in both regular and overtime periods. After lagging behind throughout the entire game, the Hornets slipped past Merrillville with a one point victory. A crushing loss to West Side stood out as the most exciting clash of the season.

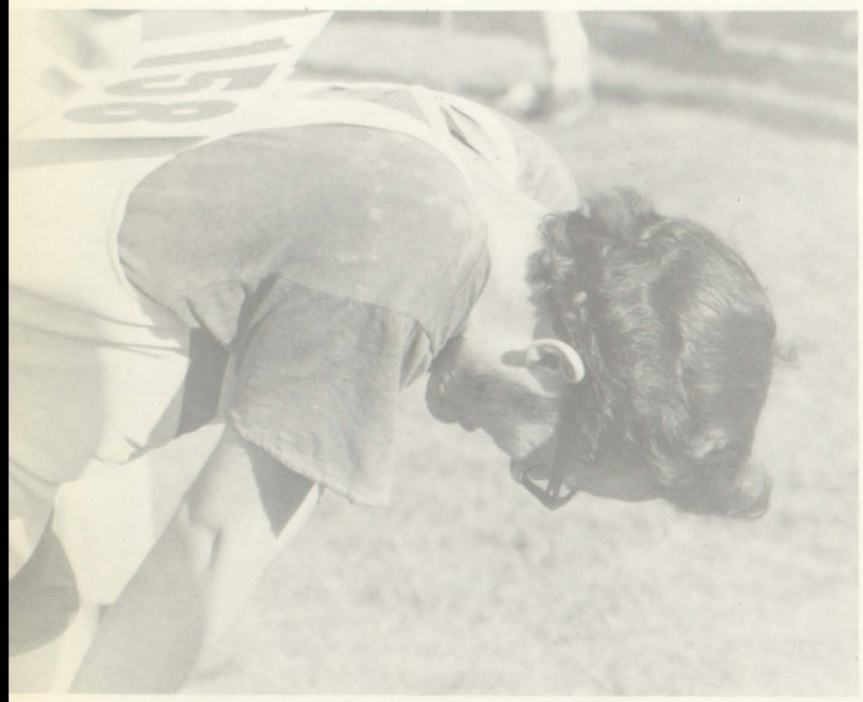

freshman cagers improve skills through season

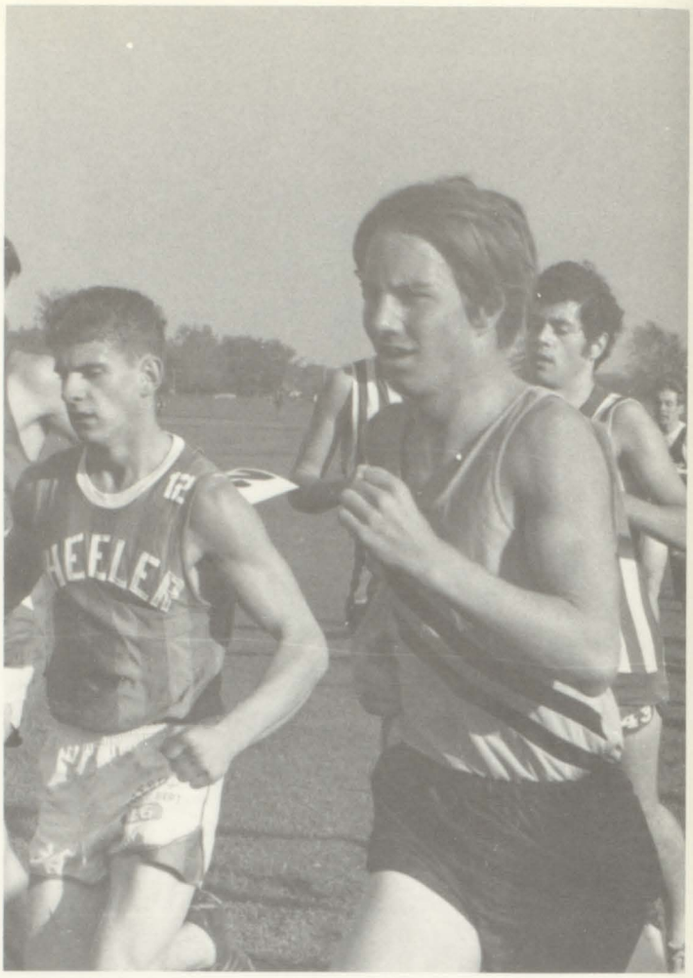

Coach Ward's freshman squad posted an impressive season record, winning nine of sixteen games. The young cagers started out slowly, but as the season progressed, they showed excellent balance and won six of their last eight contests. Coach Ward was especially pleased with the improvement of the young pivotmen and seemed confident they would be heard from in the 1971-72 reserve basketball camp under Coach Jennings. "The boys have plenty of potential, and if they are willing to work, they'll certainly develop into fine ballplayers for a future Hornet roundball team."

harriers run . . . and run take 6th in sectionals

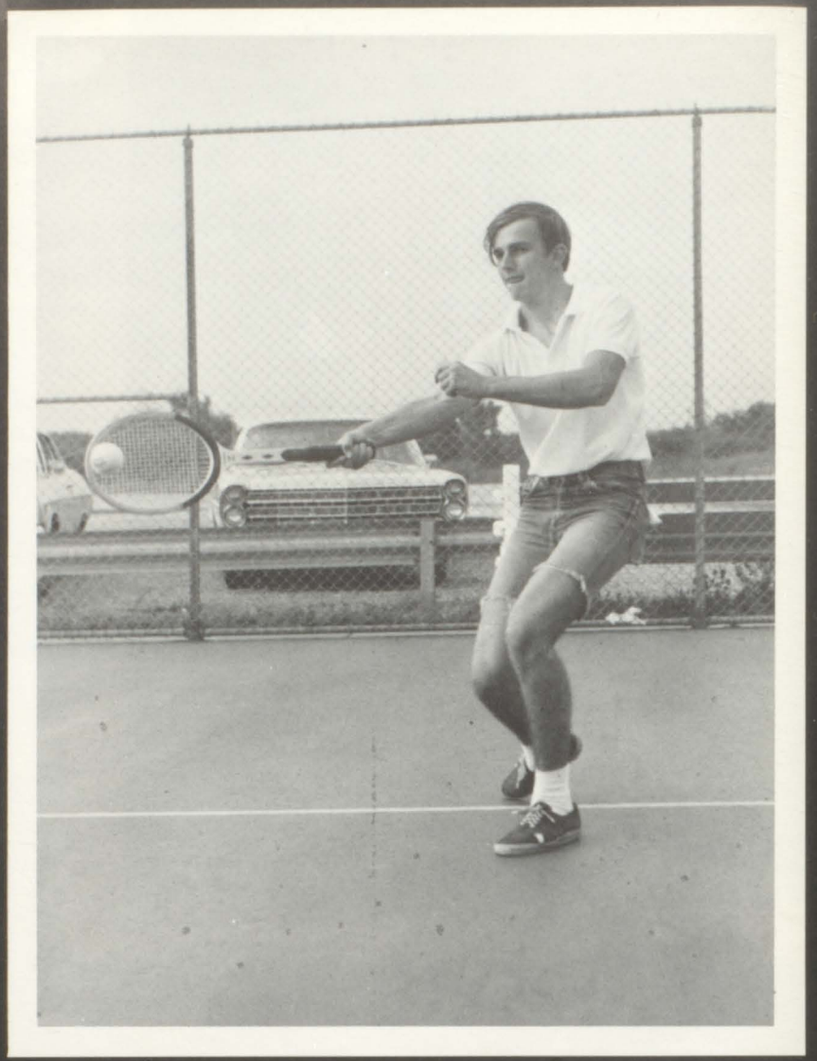

To win a cross country meet takes team effort, but to be a distance runner takes individualism. A distance runner has a task that never ends. He can only relax his running schedule for a few weeks in the summer; he must be fast and able to gain satisfaction from pushing himself. The 1970 Wallace harriers pushed — straight ahead to a 9-4-0 season and a fourth place in final conference standings. Co-captain Pierre Vuletic broke Wallace's all-time record by clocking 9:36 minutes winning the city championship. Other valuable harriers were co-captain Tim Miles, Karl Kellawan, Bob Rodriquez, and Chuck Hasty. The squad became the only team in Wallace's history to place as high as 6th in the sectionals.

tennis team bounces back

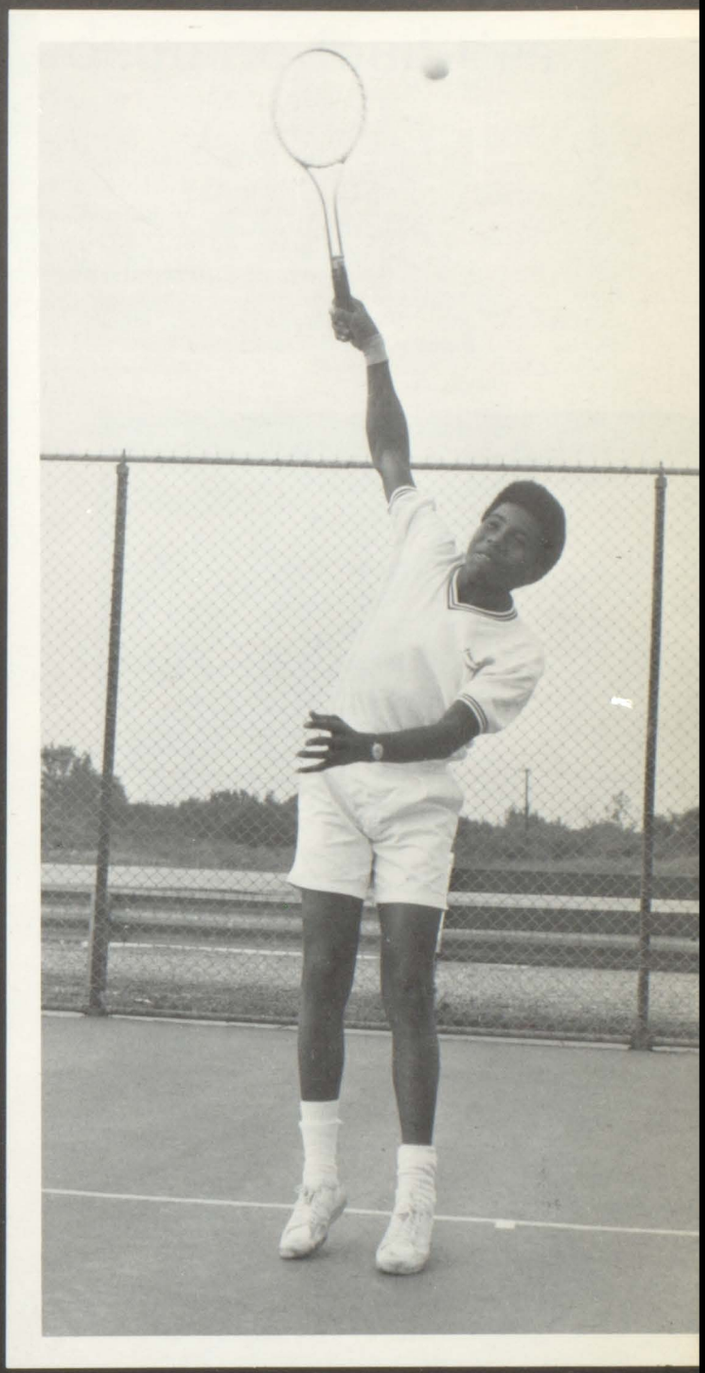

It was no surprise that the Lew Wallace racketmen had such a wonderful 1970-71 season. With a captain like Dave Tipton amassing a 51-11 individual record in his four years of playing tennis, the team was off to a great start. The netmen showed individual as well as team strength in the city tournament held in September. The squad carried away the team trophy while individuals — Dave Tipton, Alan Thomas, and Tom Thomas — received first place trophies in their divisions. Looking tops and playing equally well, the team went on to the sectionals. Once again the Thomases came out on top — this time with the All-City Doubles Championship — and Tipton topped off his four year record with the All-City and All-Sectional Championship titles.

grapplers wrestle with inadequate facilities

Lack of facilities at Wallace plagued the grapplers throughout the 1970-71 season as they were forced to travel to Kuny School every day for wrestling practices. Although the team's overall record was only average, several wrestlers produced outstanding individual records. Captain Jack Walker, weighing in at 132 pounds, set his mark at twelve undefeated dual meets, won top ranking at the city tourney and the sectionals, and placed third in regional competition. Co-captain Tim Wardrip's 7-2-3 showed that he, too, was a steady competitor. Ninety-eight pound junior Rick Watkins won the city tournament and ended the season with an impressive 10-1-0 individual record.

swimmers survive splashy season

Pass the word . . . "The Lew Wallace swim team is coming back!" Handicapped by the breakdown of the pool and the lack of experienced swimmers this year, Coach Sosh's mermen ended the 1971 season with a disappointing 3-11 team record. The squad included several outstanding individual scorers, however, and as the season progressed, times were lowered, the divers improved their scores, and the team rounded into shape. Co-captain Tim Hamilton succeeded in capping the All-City diving championship, and senior co-captain Denny Patterson was a steady competitor in every meet. Next year's tankers will be off to a strong start with several experienced swimmers and a new olympic-size pool ready for the 1972 swim season.

Wallace track team sets fast pace at relays

A good track team builds from the bottom up in order to come out "on top." The demands of track are rigid: strength and endurance are essential. Guys start early in their freshman year with hours of running every day to get in shape and to adjust their bodies to this kind of strenuous exercise. Although the young squad performed this year to the best of their abilities, the team as a whole registered only a mediocre 4-4 record. The track team members were a credit to Lew Wallace however. Co-captain Tim Miles worked his way up to qualify for the state finals where he placed fourth out of the sixteen top runners in the state. Tim also set two school records of 1:54.9 for the 880 yd-run and 49.0 for the 440 yd-run. Other school records were set by co-captain Pierre Vuletic for the two mile run and by Jon Davis for the high hurdles.

no. 2 in state
no. 1 in our hearts

Really "in the swing" this year, the 1971 golf team emerged with an excellent 26-2 final record and a number two standing in the state. The golfers started out by totaling a record-breaking 305 points in the sectionals to win it for the second consecutive year. The team then capped the city regionals with honors. Qualified to compete in the state finals, Wallace golfers made an outstanding showing, but were edged out by Carmel High School and forced to take a second. Bill Lashenik led the squad this year in the 9-hole average rating with 38.9. Bill was also the city medalist for the third time in his four years of playing golf. Jim Roberts, maintaining a 39.3 9-hole average, was the medalist in the regional tournament. Other outstanding golfers on the team were Ben Darter with a 39.4 9-hole average; Tim Wise, third medalist — shooting 73 in sectional play; and Tom Thomas, who earned the reputation of being the best three-putter in the state.

you know what they all say: baseball players really swing

One of the first signs of spring is seeing the baseball team practicing . . . even though there might be a foot of snow on the ground. The squad starts out early in the year to get in shape and to polish the finer techniques of the game. Although the final scores of the team's games this year were low, the squad ended with an admirable 11-9 record. Sanchez, Meiu, Dragich, and Mackanos kept the pitching consistent all season. Even though the hitting wasn't too good as a whole, the team did have sluggers DeVaney, Skaltsas, James, Graves, and the Svetichs to give the squad enough push to win. The Andrean game highlighted the season when it went into sixteen innings before Wallace finally pulled ahead to end the game, 2-1. The 1972 season looks promising with six returning lettermen.

reserve baseball squad builds necessary skills

The correct techniques and skills of baseball and the importance of good sportsmanship are stressed heavily on a reserve baseball team. Although winning helps to give the players a feeling of confidence and success, it is not the only goal of the squad. Each player gained experience this year by participating in at least three games. Even though the squad ended the season with a disappointing 2-8 final record, most of the games were lost by only one point. Some of the team's outstanding players included pitchers, Gene Iwan, Randy Polster, and Mike Stojsavljevic; short stop, Bob Vasquez; and second baseman, Bob Leidtke. The season brought out the talents of many other ball players who will provide a substantial boost for next year's varsity squad.

1970-71 RESERVE BASEBALL TEAM — Back Row: D. Vereb, J. Nemtuda, G. Georgian, B. Liedtke, P. Gerbick, R. Hurst, M. Stojsavljevic, T. Cunningham, R. Kordys, G. Iwan, B. Vasquez, M. Deaton, R. bernal. Front Row: J. Claxton, R. Polster, T. Mihalik, Coach Vereb, F. Schmidt, C. Kaufman, B. Vagenas, A. Vukin.

"It is not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by the dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again . . . who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions and spends himslef in a worthy cause; who, at the best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who, at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

MARK DUGGAN
July 7, 1970

I've known enough days now . . .
I fear if I know more,
 I'll become disenchanted
with the ones I've known before.
So now in summertime,
I'd like to go
while there's still enough . . .
 while I'm still running forward.

I want to go in summertime . . .
to die in silence
without a single sound . . .
to touch the earth as gently
 as a leaf
when it hits the ground
to leave behind a memory
 soft as summertime . . .
to leave behind
 a fragrance
carried on the wind for those one loves
and will never see again . . .
to die in summertime
or not to die at all . . .
 while I'm still running forward.

in memory . . .

ROSEMARY MEDELLIN
June 26, 1970

A rift in the clouds
in a gray day
threw a shaft of sunlight
upon her coffin
as her nervous,
energetic
little body
sank to its last sleep . . .
but the soul of her
the glowing gorgeous fervent soul of her surely was flaming
in eager joy
upon some other dawn.

SOPHOMORES

In between . . . but no longer green . . . sophomores got it together.
Just a step short of upperclass, but we pulled through.

Entering a new world . . . more people,
more work, fewer privileges.
Once again reduced to the status of a "kid."

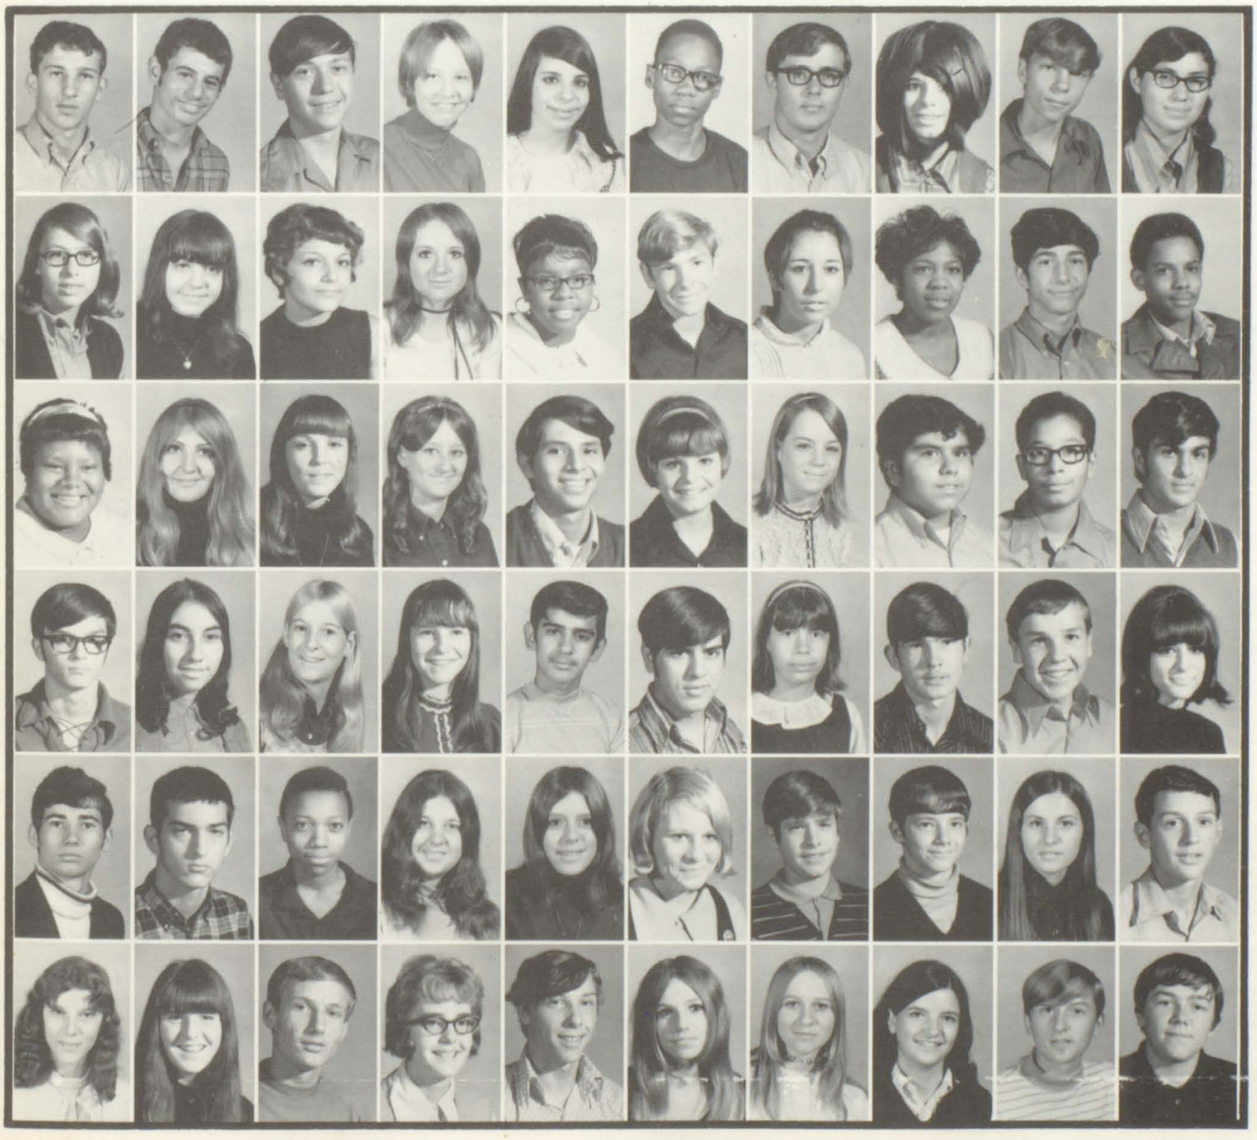

Freshman Week — sometimes tense, sometimes trying, but always exciting . . . flag pole sprints and barrages of books . . . Yet somehow we survived the traditional persecution of "frosh."

the optimist creed

PROMISE YOURSELF

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.
To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.
To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.
To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true.
To think only of the best, to work only for the best, and expect only the best.
To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.
To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.
To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.
To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.
To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

Below: "Oil's well that ends well" at DALTON OIL COMPANY, 1015 Massachusetts.

Special Photo Credits: Mr. Gene Fox of Glen Park Camera for his aerial photograph of the school in the closing section, and Mr. John Giolas of Giolas Studio for his award winning portrait used in the Inland Steel advertisement. Copy Credits: Jan Chnupa, Miss Mildrene Conwell, Lillian Dowdell, Shawn Grove, Rud McKuen, Wendy Wellnitz, Taylor Talk magazines, and the 1969 Purdue DEBRIS. Art and Design Credits: Mr. John Davis, student teacher under Mr. G. Burelli, for his advice and assistance in creating the collage on pages 10 and 11 of the opening section.

The 1971 QUILL AND BLADE was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. In the opening, closing, and album sections of the book, 18 point Melior printer's type was used; the remainder of the book's body copy is 10 point Melior, with cutlines and idents in 8 point. 24 point Melior lower case type was used for all page headlines. Warren's 80 pound Saxmark Embossed paper stock was used in the first signature of the book; the remaining signatures were printed on Meade's 80 pound Matte Finish Enamel. The cover for the 1971 QUILL AND BLADE was designed and produced by S. K. Smith Company of Chicago, Illinois.

We cry
laugh,
and silently watch something pass
and call it ours,
carrying with it
everyone we knew . . .

We look ahead
yet never forgetting
where we have been . . .
moving forward
into a world
we can call
ours . . .

a world of tomorrow
built on the dreams of yesterday.
. . . We

WE THANK

The 1971 QUILL AND BLADE Staff thanks Miss Carol J. Puchowski, advisor, for her time and for her devotion to the production of this annual. We also wish to acknowledge Mr. John Giolas, of Giolas Studio, for supplying film and developing all of our pictures; Mr. Jim Bell, representative of Taylor Publishing Company; Mr. Jack Bundy of Smith-Craft Cover Company for designing our cover; Dale Giolas and staff photographers for the majority of pictures used in this yearbook; Lew Wallace principals and faculty for their tolerance of us; and also the understanding parents of QB staffers. Thanks.

Just think . . .

A year gone by . . . quickly,
like a summer breeze.
A year of people,
going by, quickly.
Sometimes, though, it's nice to go back to those once-upon-a-time days
to find a friend,
or to

Just think . . .
